G. O. P. CONTROL OF SENATE AND HOUSE APPEARS CERTAIN NOW

Majorities, Dependable Only in "Progressive Causes."

INSURGENTS HIT

Fifty-five Republicans, 40 Democrats in Upper Branch.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—While belated returns continue to emphasize the magnitude of the Coolidge victory at the polls on Tuesday, and it now appears certain that the Republicans will have clear majorities in both branches of the 69th Congress, a close scrutiny of the line-up today disclosed that these majorities are absolutely dependable only in what might be described as "Progressive causes."

To the extent at least, Senator La Follette and his followers remain a potential powerful factor in both houses of congress, even though they have been shorn of the actual control which was theirs in the 68th Congress.

Assuming that Senator Brookhart has finally won out in Iowa, that Senator Magnus Johnson has lost in Minnesota and that a conservative Republican successor will fill the late Senator Brandgee's shoes in Connecticut, the new Senate will be composed of 55 Republicans, 40 Democrats and 1 Farmer Labor, allowing a Republican majority over all of 14.

Five La Follette Men

Of this 14, however, there are still five of the so-called La Follette group, La Follette himself, Brookhart, of

IOWA SENATOR CONTEST LOOMS

Unofficial Returns Show Re-election of Brookhart.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 7—A recheck of the vote in the Iowa Senatorial races showed today that Senator Smith W. Brookhart has piled up a lead of 1,156 over his Democratic opponent, Daniel F. Steck, the unofficial count gave Brookhart, 447,409; Steck, 446,353.

These figures are not final and the outcome will not be known definitely until the canvass by the State Executive Council on November 24. Following the canvass the election may be contested by either side and taken before the U. S. Senate.

Steck arrived in Des Moines last night and immediately conferred with Clyde Herring, Democratic national committeeman. Telegrams were sent to every county auditor requesting that special care be taken to safeguard the ballots and abstracts of judges. The Democratic committeeman's next move was to get in touch with members of the executive council

SCHOOL BOARD DEFERS ACTION ON THIRD ST. BUILDING PLAN

No Decision Because of J. H. Brookes' Absence.

ROUTINE MEET

Lutheran Basketball Team Granted Use of Gymnasium.

Definite action on the proposed plan of closing the Third street elementary school, which has been under consideration by the board of education for about a month, was deferred at the regular meeting in the high school building Thursday evening.

Attorney Ben L. Bennett, counsel for the patrons of the Third street school district, submitted resolutions and reported actions taken by a half score of labor, service and civic organizations, protesting against the proposal as a "backward step in the educational facilities of the city," as one organization stated it.

Owing to the absence of Attorney Jason H. Brookes, president of the board, who was out of the city, the board explained that definite action would be deferred until the next meeting.

Greys Get Athletic Field.

The attorney, in suggesting that the board come to some decision on the proposition at teir earliest convenience, said that residents of the district were very much interested in the matter, feeling that every day would be the last in which they would be able to send their children to the Third street building. Vice President D. F. White, who presided, assured Mr. Bennett that in case the board did decide to close the school as a move for economy that the parents residing in the district would be given ample time in which to make arrangements to send their children to other schools.

George Cochran, manager of the East Liverpool Greys, an independent football team, and O. V. Boone, high school coach, appeared before the school board members with a plan whereby the Greys would be permitted to use the Patterson Athletic field for a game with Sebring on the afternoon of Armistice Day.

Protest To Railroad Company.

Cochran declared that the game could be started at 2 o'clock and the field cleared before 4 o'clock. This arrangement was approved by the coach, who declared that the high school team would not start their daily workout before that hour. The board expressed the opinion that inasmuch as the grounds was given

Rotary Club's Ladies' Night Meeting Is Brilliant Affair

Congressman Murphy Among Guests at Splendid Musical Program and Dinner Held in Wellsville Thursday Evening.

Introducing a new note in program procedure, which, bringing as it did a group of Pittsburgh musicians of reputation to the district, did not fail to receive a warm welcome, the East Liverpool Rotary club ladies' night committee, M. T. Abbott, J. N. Porter and C. V. Beatty, more than succeeding in the consummation of their entertainment plans, sponsored one of the most elaborate functions of an already brilliant season Thursday night in the First United Presbyterian church, Wellsville.

Approximately 150 persons, including members of the Rotary club and their guests, were present at the affair, the attendance being limited to this number only by the confines of the church parlors. Martin T. Abbott, chairman of the committee in charge, expressed regret that limited accommodations prevented the committee from enjoying the pleasure of the company of more of the club's East Liverpool and Wellsville friends.

As the guest of Mr. Abbott, Congressman Frank Murphy of Steubenville, who was returned to his seat

The Ohio Willite Paving and Surfacing company will resume the laying of asphalt on West Eighth street Saturday, it was announced Friday.

The contractors were forced to quit the surfacing work nearly a week ago when the asphalt supply gave out. Another shipment was delivered Thursday afternoon and was mixed Friday.

The traction company is now pouring concrete along its west bound track.

Fire Sweeps Labor At Midland; Loss Placed at $1,000

Damage estimated at $1,000 was caused by a fire which destroyed the labor camp of the McIntosh-Hemphill Foundry Company at Twelfth street, Midland, at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning. The origin of the blaze was not ascertained. Practically all of the beds in the building were saved. About 75 men are housed at the camp. No insurance was carried on the building.

GET $12 CASH

Help Themselves to Tobies and Chewing Gum, Too.

The Earl B. McHenry grocery, on Avondale street, was looted Thursday night, about $12 in money, a box of tobies and several packages of chewing gum being stolen.

With the use of a strong screw driver and a sharp bladed instrument, the thieves succeeded in jimmying the lock in the front door of the grocery. Although the drawer on the cash register could have been opened by pressing one of the keys, the thives, with the use of a meat clever which they obtained in the store, pried the cash drawer open, practically wrecking the register. Here they obtained about $12, mostly in nickles, dimes and quarters.

Second Safe Looting

Directing their attention to a small safe, the culprits found both the outer door and the inner doors unlocked. Believing a locked drawer in the safe contained money, they again used the meat cleaver to force open the compartment, which contained papers

THERE IS NO HALF-WAY HOUSE IN FUTURE WORLD; EVERY SOUL WILL BE SAVED OR LOST, DR. BIEDERWOLF WARNS IN PLEA FOR CHANGED LIFE

By T. T. JONES.

That there is no half-way house in the future world and that every human soul ultimately will be saved or lost was solemnly declared by Dr. W. E. Biederwolf at the Second and Washington streets tabernacle on Thursday night during an impassioned plea for a changed life that would guarantee safety and merit Salvation.

"How shall we escape, if we neglect so great a Salvation, "Paul's observations in the form of a query which he said could not be answered, formed the sermon foundation. "If eventually we are lost," he asserted, "there will be a reason and that will be our own neglect."

Two large delegations, the Protected Home Circle and the De Molay organization, attended the service. The former, headed by the Salvation Army band and following the unit's banners, made an appealing appearance as it wended its way to the seats reserved for them.

The DeMolays, made up of young men not yet 21 years old, potential members eventually of the Masonic fraternity, stood out in their manliness and vigor of youth as they stalked rapidly to their assigned places. Both standing up in turn, were given a cordial greeting by Mr. McEwan and Dr. Biederwolf and generously cheered by the audience about them.

Song after song was contributed by the big choir before Dr. Biederwolf spoke, the musical contribution being concluded with "Rock of Ages," the auditorium being darkened the while and the Cross above the platform only lighted.

A. B. C. of Happiness.

Indicating the origin, development and consummation of salvation and emphasizing its greatness, the evangelist asserted that it saved the accepting soul from sin in this life and from hell in the hereafter. "If you don't know the peace of having Jesus in your hearts now you do not know the "A. B. C." of happiness," he said, "and in the life to come 'eye has not seen, ear has not heard nor the mind conceived that which the Father has prepared for those accepting His Son'."

Reaching his climax with the story of the failure of a young college friend of Dr. Truett, the Southern Baptist clergymen, who, begging for a delay of one day before accepting Christ, was taken suddenly ill and passed out muttering the words he used to bring about his ill-fated respite, the vast auditorium attained a momentary quiet, unprecedented as yet during the campaign and in which a pin could have been heard dropping in the sawdust. The atmosphere became sur-charged with spiritual essence and when the invitation was startlingly and suddenly given by the evangelist the DeMolay lads to a man, left their places, and went forward to grasp the evangelist's hand.

Church Cards Signed.

Others, similarly affected, also went forward. Later cards were signed indicating their present church membership or those to which they wish to be allied.

Dr. Biederwolf pleaded for a right viewpoint of spiritual things so that the spoken of neglect of them could not make for a loss of ultimate salvation. "You can be sincere in believing there is no hell and still reach it," he explained. "You can think sincerely that dynamite is harmless and, handling it, recklessly, have the remains of your physical self swept up into a dust pan by a broom."

"Put heaven in and keep hell out of your souls while you live," he pleaded, "and thus be insured of the former permanently hereafter."

Dr. Biederwolf deprecated the tendency of ministers to emphasize the love of God to the frequently utter disparagement of the certainty of punishment, when His tenets are not accepted. "Some think God is so merciful He will not allow the wicked to suffer and yet Christ said more while on earth about hell and the judgment than all the other Bible writers together;" he said, "If we had more hell preached in the pulpit we would have less hell in the community."

Ring Church Bells at Noon.

Announcement was made that beginning on Friday certain church bells would be rung at noon daily during the campaign, in various sections of the co-operating church zones, when all interested were expected to indulge in at least 30 seconds of prayer.

Notice was given also that next Tuesday would be a prayer and fast day. One meal at least is to be tabooed and following the morning cottage prayer meetings those interested in the revival will meet in the tabernacle and hold a continuous prayer service throughout the day with leaders being changed at regular intervals.

The night invocation was made by Rev. Fred Bennett, shop and men's worker of the evangelistic party. The consecration prayer at the conclusion of the services was made by Rev. Mr. Smith, pastor of the Anderson M. E. church.

Mr. McEwan sang "I'll Go All the Way With Jesus."

Afternoon Sermon.

Alleging that scientific investigation showed conclusively that gambling increase in this country was keeping pace with the added card playing in the various homes, Dr. Biederwolf inveighed against the habit at the afternoon session on Thursday in the tabernacle.

Christian people, he held, must give up that which tended to injure others. He quoted Paul: "If meat offends then I will eat no meat."

Of 3,000 professional gamblers in Chicago who were consulted some time ago regarding their start in their nefarious pastime he declared all but six stated they got their start by playing cards at home.

"You might just as well say you want your children to drink whiskey at home so they will not elsewhere as to give them a chance by playing cards around their own hearth stones to become gamblers.

Scores Card Playing.

Christ's life during His whole existence here via Bethlehem and back to heaven via the Cross was one of sacrifice. The Christian accordingly must sacrifice something for the benefit of others.

Dr. Biederwolf realistically told of eight Sunday school boys whose teacher taught them to play cards as a diversion while studying the Bible. As a result two went to drunkards' graves, three to the penitentiary, two were hung and one became a fugitive from justice.

He told, too, of James Kilgour, a

By T. T. JONES.

That there is no half-way house in the future world and that every human soul ultimately will be saved or lost was solemnly declared by Dr. W. E. Biederwolf at the Second and Washington streets tabernacle on Thursday night during an impassioned plea for a changed life that would guarantee safety and merit Salvation.

"How shall we escape, if we neglect so great a Salvation, "Paul's observations in the form of a query which he said could not be answered, formed the sermon foundation. "If eventually we are lost," he asserted, "there will be a reason and that will be our own neglect."

Two large delegations, the Protected Home Circle and the De Molay organization, attended the service. The former, headed by the Salvation Army band and following the unit's banners, made an appealing appearance as it wended its way to the seats reserved for them.

The DeMolays, made up of young men not yet 21 years old, potential members eventually of the Masonic fraternity, stood out in their manliness and vigor of youth as they stalked rapidly to their assigned places. Both standing up in turn, were given a cordial greeting by Mr. McEwan and Dr. Biederwolf and generously cheered by the audience about them.

Song after song was contributed by the big choir before Dr. Biederwolf spoke, the musical contribution being concluded with "Rock of Ages," the auditorium being darkened the while and the Cross above the platform only lighted.

A. B. C. of Happiness.

Indicating the origin, development and consummation of salvation and emphasizing its greatness, the evangelist asserted that it saved the accepting soul from sin in this life and from hell in the hereafter. "If you don't know the peace of having Jesus in your hearts now you do not know the "A. B. C." of happiness," he said, "and in the life to come 'eye has not seen, ear has not heard nor the mind conceived that which the Father has prepared for those accepting His Son'."

Reaching his climax with the story of the failure of a young college friend of Dr. Truett, the Southern Baptist clergymen, who, begging for a delay of one day before accepting Christ, was taken suddenly ill and passed out muttering the words he used to bring about his ill-fated respite, the vast auditorium attained a momentary quiet, unprecedented as yet during the campaign and in which a pin could have been heard dropping in the sawdust. The atmosphere became sur-charged with spiritual essence and when the invitation was startlingly and suddenly given by the evangelist the DeMolay lads to a man, left their places, and went forward to grasp the evangelist's hand.

Church Cards Signed.

Others, similarly affected, also went forward. Later cards were signed indicating their present church membership or those to which they wish to be allied.

Dr. Biederwolf pleaded for a right viewpoint of spiritual things so that the spoken of neglect of them could not make for a loss of ultimate salvation. "You can be sincere in believing there is no hell and still reach it," he explained. "You can think sincerely that dynamite is harmless and, handling it, recklessly, have the remains of your physical self swept up into a dust pan by a broom."

"Put heaven in and keep hell out of your souls while you live," he pleaded, "and thus be insured of the former permanently hereafter."

Dr. Biederwolf deprecated the tendency of ministers to emphasize the love of God to the frequently utter disparagement of the certainty of punishment, when His tenets are not accepted. "Some think God is so merciful He will not allow the wicked to suffer and yet Christ said more while on earth about hell and the judgment than all the other Bible writers together;" he said, "If we had more hell preached in the pulpit we would have less hell in the community."

Ring Church Bells at Noon.

Announcement was made that beginning on Friday certain church bells would be rung at noon daily during the campaign, in various sections of the co-operating church zones, when all interested were expected to indulge in at least 30 seconds of prayer.

Notice was given also that next Tuesday would be a prayer and fast day. One meal at least is to be tabooed and following the morning cottage prayer meetings those interested in the revival will meet in the tabernacle and hold a continuous prayer service throughout the day with leaders being changed at regular intervals.

The night invocation was made by Rev. Fred Bennett, shop and men's worker of the evangelistic party. The consecration prayer at the conclusion of the services was made by Rev. Mr. Smith, pastor of the Anderson M. E. church.

Mr. McEwan sang "I'll Go All the Way With Jesus."

Afternoon Sermon.

Alleging that scientific investigation showed conclusively that gambling increase in this country was keeping pace with the added card playing in the various homes, Dr. Biederwolf inveighed against the habit at the afternoon session on Thursday in the tabernacle.

Christian people, he held, must give up that which tended to injure others. He quoted Paul: "If meat offends then I will eat no meat."

Of 3,000 professional gamblers in Chicago who were consulted some time ago regarding their start in their nefarious pastime he declared all but six stated they got their start by playing cards at home.

"You might just as well say you want your children to drink whiskey at home so they will not elsewhere as to give them a chance by playing cards around their own hearth stones to become gamblers.

Scores Card Playing.

Christ's life during His whole existence here via Bethlehem and back to heaven via the Cross was one of sacrifice. The Christian accordingly must sacrifice something for the benefit of others.

Dr. Biederwolf realistically told of eight Sunday school boys whose teacher taught them to play cards as a diversion while studying the Bible. As a result two went to drunkards' graves, three to the penitentiary, two were hung and one became a fugitive from justice.

He told, too, of James Kilgour, a

Japs Say Quakes Can be Forecast By Tide Movements

TOKYO — Experts are congratulating themselves on the accurate prediction of a recent earthquake here.

For some time it had been thought there was some effect caused by earthquakes on the tides. According to a statement by the weather bureau at Choshi, Chiba perfecture, the tide off Choshi had been rising steadily until one Tuesday, when it reached and went beyond what officials term the danger mark. Warnings were issued, it is asserted.

On Tuesday night tremors were felt in Tokyo and neighboring districts.

Wednesday morning, after the tremors had ceased, the tide subsided, and the water was running four feet lower than before. It was this phenomenon, it was said, that confirmed the belief of the authorities that earthquakes can be forecast by the movements of the tide. They point out that, three or four months previous to the September disaster a year ago the tide had attained the danger mark.

Mr. Maeda, chief of the bureau, said the danger from Boso promontory, forming the extreme southern end of Chiba prefecture, is that it is located only about 50 miles from the spot in the Pacific which is considered by experts as the earthquake zone. This zone, he said, enters a period of activity at intervals of 100 years.

The Constant Public

Wonder who originated that glib remark about the "fickle public," anyway? Certainly in all our dealings with the public we've never found any justification for it. On the contrary, we'll go on record as saying that nothing is so sure of continued public support as the man or institution that deserves it——that really serves the public in the way the public wants to be served. We feel that so long as we are constant to the public interest, the public will be constant with us.

MILDRED SMITH, 16, DEAD HERE

Only Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Smith, of Broadway.

Miss Mildred Smith, 16 years old, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Smith, of Broadway, died Thursday shortly afternoon at the home of her parents, following an illness of several weeks, death being attributed to an attack of typhoid fever.

Miss Smith had a large number of friends throughout the city, especially among the children, as a result of her high school and Sunday school associations, and her activities in connection with the campfire girls and similar organizations at the American Sheet and Tin Plate mill community home.

She was a member of the Sophomore class of the high school and a member of the Sunbeam Sunday school class of the First Methodist Episcopal church. She was secretary of the Ta-ta-Le-wa Campfire Girls' club and was an aide to Miss Jennie Perry, the mill's community welfare nurse, in the supervision of the little girls' civic club of the community home.

Funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Smith residence in Broadway, in charge of Rev. Harry Stewart, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Arrangements for the burial had not been completed at noon Friday.

Entertains Class

Mrs. Paul Eaton was hostess to members of the Delta Alpha class of the First Christian church on Thursday evening at her home, 936 Center street. During the business session, the club elected Mrs. Lester Donnelly as treasurer, to succeed Mrs. George Wilkins. A social hour concluded the program.

MINGO GRIDDERS AT CENTRAL PARK

With Halfback D'Anito still suffering from injuries to an ankle, Guard Pignatore more or less under the weather and Tackle Arbaugh unable to perform at top efficiency as a result of minor injuries, the local high school football squad, from present indications, is not in the condition in which it should find itself on the eve of the game with the Mingo Junction eleven which will be staged Saturday afternoon at Central park.

The game with the Mingo gridders Orange and Black in as many weeks, will be the third hard struggle for the the locals having previously battled with Bellaire and Leetonia, both contests being recorded in the column of losses.

Wellsville has been mixing with Mingo teams for several years and holds a slight edge in the way of victories. Whether this year will be a Mingo year remains to be seen, although it is generallly conceded that the lower valley eleven is not so strong as the teams of 1922 and 1923, when the school was at the peak of its football prowess.

Saturday's game is scheduled to start at 3:15 p. m.

TWO FINED ON GAME LAW COUNT

Frank Mick and Earl Betts, charged with an offense against state game laws, have been fined $50 and costs each in the court of Justice W. L. Fogo, Main street. They were released on payment of the fines.

Mick and Betts were arrested by Deputy Game Warden William Toot, of Lisbon, who after obtaining a warrant from Justice Fogo's court, searched the properties of the men. He is said to have obtained the hides of four fur bearing animals and turned loose two living oppossums and five skunks.

"We are determined to see that the game laws of the state are obeyed, just the same as other interests are looking after the enforcement of other laws," Game Warden Toot declared.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1924.

The Third Degree

The supreme court of the United States has condemned in scathing terms the common police practice of the "third degree." The case may become a notable one. It is that of a Chinese named Wan, accused of murder in the District of Columbia and convicted on his own alleged confession. That confession, the court holds, was invalid, because he confessed under coercion and virtually under torture. So the court reverses the verdict and takes occasion to read a lecture to the police on such procedure.

It appears that the defendant, seriously ill, was taken to the police station, held incommunicado, bombarded with interminable questions, taken to the scene of the crime and compelled to witness a representation of it and kept without sleep or medical care for nearly two weeks. At least, in weariness and desperation, he yielded and signed his "confession."

Many a man did the same thing in the Spanish Inquisition, and in many another inquisition not spelled in capital letters. The process is far more common in this country than the police anywhere like to admit, or than the public has any idea of.

Like many other wrongs, it is meant for a praiseworthy purpose—the detection and punishment of crime. It may be legitimate when applied in moderation, to exceptional cases. But the trouble is that it is so easy to abuse the principle and go to cruel excesses, without any warrant in law or regard for basic human rights.

It may be said, without any suggestion of coddling criminals, that this decision of the supreme court should serve as a warning to police officials everywhere. It should remind them that in America every man is legally innocent until he is proved guilty, and that no matter how strong the presumption of guilt, every individual has inalienable rights, in the police station as in the courtroom.

Wet Tide Turns

The Canadian wets hoped to follow up their victories in the west by "reclaiming" the big, populous and rich province of Ontario for liquor. They are blocked by a dry victory, and the wry forces are correspondingly cheered.

"The tide of battle has turned," says the national prohibition leader. "We will not only regain the western provinces to the dry column but we will press forward unitedly for national prohibition. A Canada free from the blight of booze is our ideal."

That program means the drying up of the French province of Quebec, the stronghold of the Canadian liquor traffic.

The hopes of the prohibitionists may be realized, too. Canadians have been indulging in some sober second thought about the liquor question, wondering whether, after all, the benefits of alcohol are so great as they are imagined to be by habitual drinkers and represented to be by the liquor industry. Self-respecting citizens, too, have been scandalized by the extent to which border cities have become "saloons for thirsty Americans," and do not care to profit by that kind of commerce. In that, they have the support of self-respecting citizens on this side of the border.

There is perceptibly a greater regard for prohibition lately in our own country. The present wave of feeling may be international in scope. It is not impossible, despite obstacles encountered here and there, that the continent eventually will be dry.

The worst aftermath of the election is the kicks from voters who didn't vote.

Another adventurer plans to go over Niagara Falls in a big football, and Fate may be counted on to make a touchdown with him, all right.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

A PRISON EDITOR

In Atlanta prison the inmates publish a monthly magazine called "Good Words." The publication is issued "with the approval of the department of justice," and is "dedicated to the welfare of the men in prison." The prisoners write and edit the publication, and just now the chief editor is W. T. McCray, recently governor of Indiana.

The latest issue contains editorials on "good reputation," "parole" and "baseball." There is also a big editorial on "Thanksgiving," all written by the new editor.

WHAT WOULD YOU WRITE?

What would you suggest as the right kind of editorial for a publication read by men in prison? How would this do, in your opinion, for a prison Thanksgiving day editorial:

Be Thankful.

Thanksgiving is coming, be thankful.

Be thankful that every man has a chance to repair and make good the past.

Be thankful that what we really are, not what others think of us, is what counts.

Be thankful that civilization, slowing developing, gives the criminal another chance. Before you decide that you are utterly miserable, remember that only a few years ago, in all the countries in Europe, every convict in the prison would have been hange dor otherwise executed for the offense that brings him here.

Be thankful above all that you were caught in time, not tempted by success to drift into crime as a permanent occupation.

Be thankful that you were brought here, where you have time for thought, and where, for man capable of it, earnest self-searching, self-condemning thought is necessary.

Be thankful that it is never too late.

The dying thief, on the cross, was saved, at the last moment, as the breath of life was leaving his body. The last words ever heard on this earth by the repentent thief were: "Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

Be thankful that Divine Justice sees and knows all. Nothing is hidden from the all-seeing eye. The temptations, the weakness, all are known and all may be forgiven.

Be thankful, above all, that life at its very longest is not long.

The earth will continue to roll on for hundreds of millions of years in the light of the sun.

Be thankful for the religious faith that teaches forgiveness with repentance and happiness thereafter.

Be thankful, if it can no better be, that there is rest and peace in the grave, where all alike must go to their earth prison.

Be thankful that it will soon be over, and remember the verses written by Swinburne, when he was a very impatient young man:

"From too much love of living,
From hope and fear set free,
We thank with brief thanksgiving
Whatever gods may be
That no man lives forever,
That dead men rise up never;
That even the weariest river
Winds somewhere safe to sea."

GENERAL OFFICE WORK

One of our faithful readers sends in this question:

"Why is it said that general office work, if long continued, is demoralizing to a man?

"Young men engaged as cashiers, bookkeepers and credit men work their way up and get good pay. Please tell us why the general office workers get demoralized."

The writer writer in the above question signs himself "Ambitious" for purpose of publication in this column.

The signature suggest the answer to his question.

General office work—that is to say, the sort of work which requires a man to do whatever he is told, here and there, without any fixed occupation—does demoralize some men.

It demoralizes them because they are not ambitious.

For the right kind of a man general office work ought to be the stepping stone to success—if the office offers any possibilities of success. If the office does not offer any such possibilities, the quicker a worker gets out of it the better.

The duty of a faithful employe is to work hard for the man that pays him.

And the duty of the employer is to give the ambitious worker a chance to rise.

WORKER MUST BE AMBITIOUS

The man engaged in one particular kind of work is apt to forge ahead—even if very slowly—because circumstances compel him to concentrate his attention.

He must think of one thing all the time; he develops a specialty, and he succeeds.

The general worker is not compelled to concentrate his mind and his energies on any one particular thing.

He has the opportunity to become shiftless and careless if he pleases.

If he lacks ambition, he is very apt to drift into a dull routine, a sort of a rut, and to become what our friends call "demoralized."

There are many men trudging along as handy men in various offices, stores, etc.

Some of them get downhearted and feel that there is no a chance.

We are glad that the letter we quote gives us a reason for speaking to these discouraged or demoralized men.

It is never too late to get back your moral tone. It is never too late for ambition to be aroused in you.

If the "general office man" will make up his mind to be a specialist, as well as a general man, he will get along.

If he makesup his mind to do one or two things particularly well and with particular display of energy, he will get along.

It is absolutely the fact that even the dullest employer appreciates the man that gives him money in the shape of good work.

And it is a fact that employers need good, hard, faithful workers much more than the workers need good employers.

An effort to do something particularly well may even be resented by a dull man as officiousness at first.

But the man who wants to succeed must succeed in spite of lack of appreciation, in spite of everything.

Work as a general utility clerk is dangerous, because such work does not compel a man to keep at one thing, as we have said.

There is speed to the stream with narrow banks. It loses its speed when the banks widen and the water spreads out all over the meadow.

The ordinary general office man is such a spreading stream with little power, little motion, little energy.

He must dig for himself his own banks, his own water course, he must control his direction, concentrate his power, make up his mind not to be demoralized, and he won't be demoralized.

Making Use of the Fat Man With the Armful of Coats and Rugs—

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—More than 80 per cent of battle-scarred Northern France had been restored to its former condition by the last of October—just six years after the allied armies were sweeping through the Argonne to end the greatest war in all history.

According to official information to the department of commerce, a big percentage of the houses destroyed during the war has been rebuilt; 80 per cent of the trenches used by the allied and German armies have been filled in; 90 per cent of the damaged canals reconstructed and 88 per cent of the factories put back into operation.

"While to a great extent the repairing of damages done in these regions was executed with government aid, nevertheless much is due to the energy and industry of private individuals and owners," Ellwood A. Welden, European expert of the department of commerce, said.

Welden said that information indicates the last scars of the great war would be removed from northern France by the middle of next year. Most of the agricultural lands have been reclaimed from the sanguinary trench cut fields. The miles of barbed wire have been removed, and the population has returned to its original dwellings. Manufacturing and mining industries have been reopened.

"The pre-war population of the reconstructed regions numbered approximately 4,690,000, while by November 11, 1918, this number had been reduced to 2,075,000," Welden said.

"On January 1, 1924, the population was 4,253,000. In 3,239 out of 3,244 communes the local administration has been reorganized fully. The number of public schools and postoffices in these districts exceeds that of pre-war days."

Shortly before the close of the war a corporation was organized known the credit national, to facilitate the repair of damages caused by the war. The company was formed by a group of the most important French banks, with a capital of 100,000,000 francs. Up to April 30, 1924, war sufferers had been paid about 54,000,000,000 francs. It is expected that the total damages paid to persons who suffered loss of property during the war will reach about 82,000,000,000 francs.

"Although the French government is undertaking the responsibility for financing reconstruction, a considerable part of the direct burden of cash payments has been distributed among the different agencies," Welden said.

The French treasury at the end of 1923 had furnished almost 22,000,000,000 francs.

Interesting figures as to industrial reconstruction are to be found in connection with the coal mines of the Nord and the Pas-de-Calais departments, according to Welden. He pointed out that the number of pits in these departments at the beginning of the war was 200, all of which were damaged during the invasion.

"On January 1, 1924, there were 145 of the mines again in operation, with workers numbering nearly 96,000, or 4,000 more than in pre-war years," he continued. "The output in January, 1924, amounted to 1,222,000 tons, or 76 per cent of the average monthly output in 1913, as against a monthly average of only 1,525 tons in 1919."

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—If a man is flung from a horse and hurt the best he gets is a laugh from everyone including the horse. Not long ago a celebrated New York editor did a "Prince of Wales" and landed on his right collar bone. It cracked under the strain.

Newspapers carried a story the next day. Out of hundreds of letters and telegrams there was not one serious inquiry. All expressed regret for the accident and then proceeded to wise-crack. When visitors called they found the editor as pale and listless as the late Camille in her last days.

They immediately grew facetious. In desperation he finally went to Atlantic City until he was in shape again just to get away from jokers.

Along the bridle path in Central park men and women are flung from horses every day.

THE NOISE A BULLET MAKES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—If a man is shot and instantly killed by a bullet from a heavy automatic revolver in a room of average size does he hear the noise made the discharge of the weapon? Or if he is shot and instantly killed at long range, say half a mile by a bullet from a high power rifle does he hear the noise of the gun?

Obviously the victim in either case will never furnish the testimony that might be accepted as conclusive, or at least he will be unable to do so until more efficient communication is established with the spirit world. However, experts in ballistics assert unhesitatingly that the answer to each question is a negative in both instances the bullet travels faster than the sound of the gun that projected it.

This is determined by a simple calculation, for sound travels at the rate of 1,100 feet per second, while the speed of a bullet is appreciably faster for the first 3,000 feet or so of its range. How much faster varies according to the initial velocity, the explosive charge, and other factors, but it is said that the bullet from any high-power rifle will beat the sound of the gun for distances up to three-fifths of a mile.

Beyond that the bullet slows until the sound of the gun catches up with it and then outstrips it, which means ranges at which the victim might hear the crack of the rifle that kills him.

However, it seems that few fiction writers are experts in ballistics, for when they tell of the shooting of their characters they almost invariably have the sound of the gun preceding the impact of the bullet, even at comparatively close ranges where this would be utterly impossible. How often do we read that the hero "heard the sharp crack of a rifle and the next instant felt a stinging sensation in his shoulder," or "heard the crash of the automatic and the next instant consciousness was obliterated," or some such expressions?

DOES A BULLET HISS OR SING?

They are all wrong about that, just as most of them are that depict the sound a bullet makes in its flight. According to the authors of the stirring tales that feature shooting, a moving bullet makes almost every conceivable sound. Inspection of a dozen such stories is said to have revealed the surprising versatility of a bullet in that it is variously described as singing, hissing, humming, whining, droning, howling, shrieking, whistling, crashing, whispering, buzzing, and what not.

Just what kind of a noise a speeding bullet does make is told by Captain E. C. Crossman in an article in Outers' Recreation. He says that it is a sharp crack, somewhat like that of an effectively manipulated bull-whip.

Battlefield observation is not, as a rule, very reliable, according to this authority, but a bullet does not change its sound because of being used in battle, and therefore if battlefield conditions as to range are duplicated, with the addition of entire knowledge of missile, distance and other factors it is possible to make accurate observations and arrive at sound conclusions.

"Our work at the army small arms ballistic station, in which keep observation at the receiving end of the bullet flight was as important as intelligent gun-laying at the firing end," says Captain Crossman, "permitted much data as to bullet noise at the various ranges.

"About the most definite proof that most of our fiction gentlemen get their firearms knowledge from reading other fiction, or possibly from cussory talks with gun-store clerks, is the fact that not one of them ever mentions the most characteristic sound of the modern bullet. The man who has had a long blacksnake whip cracked violently three feet from his ears would never describe the sound as a hum or a whisper nor yet a howl.

"Modern cartridges drive their bullets fast enough to create a partial vacuum at the base, and the air, rushing in makes a sharp crack, most nearly described by the vicious cracking of a long and well-handled whip."

EXPERIMENTS AT MIAMI

One of the most illustrative examples of this noise, explains the captain, lay in the erosion firing done at Miami to determine the life of machine-gun barrels with various types of powder. The gun was laid to drop the bullets into the water at the 2,000-meter mark, one and a quarter miles from the gun, and in front of the observation tower. Sitting on the upper platform of the tower the officers observing could watch the strike of the burst, estimate its length, and accurately tell when the machine-gun barrel was wearing out.

The firing of the gun was always first announced, the observers found, by a sharp rattle in the receiver of the field telephone set on the platform with them, sounding much as if someone were ringing in on the line.

The next announcement of the coming of the bullets was a thin, sharp crackling noise from the air between the observers and the gun following the first rattle in the telephone with an interval of about five seconds. Almost on the heels of the first of the crackling noises came the bullets, with their thudding splashes into the water 50 yards away. An instant later, but imperceptible in its delay, says Captain Crossman, came the dull, heavy, thudding grumble of the machine gun. Wherefore, even at this long range, where the bullet is steadily losing out in its race with sound, the first notification of being under fire would come from the high, thin crackle of the bullets, not from any sound of the gun.

The captain also says that the bullet does not make any crackling noise after it falls in velocity to about 1,400 feet a second and the sound first made from a bullet which had taken about 2-2 seconds to reach its practically noiseless point.

The boat-tail bullet requires from five and one-half to six second to travel 2,000 meters, hence the slight interval between sound and bullet arrival. At longer ranges the bullet arrives still farther behind its own sound, while at shorter range the bullet arrives slightly ahead of it.

"The gun noise, of course, came at the rate of 1,100 feet per second," says Captain Crossman, "arriving perceptibly behind bullet poise. At longer ranges it would arrive before the bullet—which the average fiction writer thinks is true at short range, but it is not.

"At 1,000 yards the coming of such a bullet is announced by the very sharp and vicious characteristic crack of the high velocity bullet. The noise of the gun comes after it with an interval of about one second. The observer hears distinctly 'pack-punk' to testify that a high velocity bullet has passed close by him. The noise of the gun is merely a dull, heavy thudding sort of a sound.

"Even at 200 yards the sound interval can easily be distinguished between bullet and gun noise."

DINNER STORIES

"Jimmy," said the fond mother to her smart 11-year-old, "what became of that little pie I made for you as a treat yesterday? Did you eat it?"

"No, mamma," answered Jimmy with a grin. "I gave it to my teacher at school instead."

"That was very nice and generous of you, Jimmy," complimented his mother. "And did your teacher eat it?"

"Yes, I think so," answered Jimmy. "She wasn't at school today."

The secretary of the bar association was very busy and very cross one afternoon, when his telephone rang.

"No, madam," roared the secretary. "This is the bar association."

"Ah," came from the lady's end in the sweetest of tones, "I didn't miss it so far, after all, did I?"

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1924.

The Third Degree

The supreme court of the United States has condemned in scathing terms the common police practice of the "third degree." The case may become a notable one. It is that of a Chinese named Wan, accused of murder in the District of Columbia and convicted on his own alleged confession. That confession, the court holds, was invalid, because he confessed under coercion and virtually under torture. So the court reverses the verdict and takes occasion to read a lecture to the police on such procedure.

It appears that the defendant, seriously ill, was taken to the police station, held incommunicado, bombarded with interminable questions, taken to the scene of the crime and compelled to witness a representation of it and kept without sleep or medical care for nearly two weeks. At least, in weariness and desperation, he yielded and signed his "confession."

Many a man did the same thing in the Spanish Inquisition, and in many another inquisition not spelled in capital letters. The process is far more common in this country than the police anywhere like to admit, or than the public has any idea of.

Like many other wrongs, it is meant for a praiseworthy purpose—the detection and punishment of crime. It may be legitimate when applied in moderation, to exceptional cases. But the trouble is that it is so easy to abuse the principle and go to cruel excesses, without any warrant in law or regard for basic human rights.

It may be said, without any suggestion of coddling criminals, that this decision of the supreme court should serve as a warning to police officials everywhere. It should remind them that in America every man is legally innocent until he is proved guilty, and that no matter how strong the presumption of guilt, every individual has inalienable rights, in the police station as in the courtroom.

Wet Tide Turns

The Canadian wets hoped to follow up their victories in the west by "reclaiming" the big, populous and rich province of Ontario for liquor. They are blocked by a dry victory, and the wry forces are correspondingly cheered.

"The tide of battle has turned," says the national prohibition leader. "We will not only regain the western provinces to the dry column but we will press forward unitedly for national prohibition. A Canada free from the blight of booze is our ideal."

That program means the drying up of the French province of Quebec, the stronghold of the Canadian liquor traffic.

The hopes of the prohibitionists may be realized, too. Canadians have been indulging in some sober second thought about the liquor question, wondering whether, after all, the benefits of alcohol are so great as they are imagined to be by habitual drinkers and represented to be by the liquor industry. Self-respecting citizens, too, have been scandalized by the extent to which border cities have become "saloons for thirsty Americans," and do not care to profit by that kind of commerce. In that, they have the support of self-respecting citizens on this side of the border.

There is perceptibly a greater regard for prohibition lately in our own country. The present wave of feeling may be international in scope. It is not impossible, despite obstacles encountered here and there, that the continent eventually will be dry.

The worst aftermath of the election is the kicks from voters who didn't vote.

Another adventurer plans to go over Niagara Falls in a big football, and Fate may be counted on to make a touchdown with him, all right.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

A PRISON EDITOR

In Atlanta prison the inmates publish a monthly magazine called "Good Words." The publication is issued "with the approval of the department of justice," and is "dedicated to the welfare of the men in prison." The prisoners write and edit the publication, and just now the chief editor is W. T. McCray, recently governor of Indiana.

The latest issue contains editorials on "good reputation," "parole" and "baseball." There is also a big editorial on "Thanksgiving," all written by the new editor.

WHAT WOULD YOU WRITE?

What would you suggest as the right kind of editorial for a publication read by men in prison? How would this do, in your opinion, for a prison Thanksgiving day editorial:

Be Thankful.

Thanksgiving is coming, be thankful.

Be thankful that every man has a chance to repair and make good the past.

Be thankful that what we really are, not what others think of us, is what counts.

Be thankful that civilization, slowing developing, gives the criminal another chance. Before you decide that you are utterly miserable, remember that only a few years ago, in all the countries in Europe, every convict in the prison would have been hange dor otherwise excepted for the offense that brings him here.

Be thankful above all that you were caught in time, not tempted by success to drift into crime as a permanent occupation.

Be thankful that you were brought here, where you have time for thought, and where, for man capable of it, earnest self-searching, self-condemning thought is necessary.

Be thankful that it is never too late.

The dying thief, on the cross, was saved, at the last moment, as the breath of life was leaving his body. The last words ever heard on this earth by the repentent thief were: "Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

Be thankful that Divine Justice sees and knows all. Nothing is hidden from the all-seeing eye. The temptations, the weakness, all are known and all may be forgiven.

Be thankful, above all, that life at its very longest is not long.

The earth will continue to roll on for hundreds of millions of years in the light of the sun.

Be thankful for the religious faith that teaches forgiveness with repentance and happiness thereafter.

Be thankful, if it can no better be, that there is rest and peace in the grave, where all alike must go to their earth prison.

Be thankful that it will soon be over, and remember the verses written by Swinburne, when he was a very impatient young man:

"From too much love of living,
From hope and fear set free,
We thank with brief thanksgiving
Whatever gods may be
That no man lives forever,
That dead men rise up never;
That even the weariest river
Winds somewhere safe to sea."

GENERAL OFFICE WORK

One of our faithful readers sends in this question:

"Why is it said that general office work, if long continued, is demoralizing to a man?

"Young men engaged as cashiers, bookkeepers and credit men work their way up and get good pay. Please tell us why the general office workers get demoralized."

The writer writer in the above question signs himself "Ambitious" for purpose of publication in this column.

The signature suggest the answer to his question.

General office work—that is to say, the sort of work which requires a man to go whatever he is told, here and there, without any fixed occupation—does demoralize some men.

It demoralizes them because they are not ambitious.

For the right kind of a man general office work ought to be the stepping stone to success—if the office offers any possibilities of success. If the office does not offer any such possibilities, the quicker a worker gets out of it the better.

The duty of a faithful employe is to work hard for the man that pays him.

And the duty of the employer is to give the ambitious worker a chance to rise.

WORKER MUST BE AMBITIOUS

The man engaged in one particular kind of work is apt to forge ahead—even if very slowly—because circumstances compel him to concentrate his attention.

He must think of one thing all the time; he develops a specialty, and he succeeds.

The general worker is not compelled to concentrate his mind and his energies on any one particular thing.

He has the opportunity to become shiftless and careless if he pleases.

If he lacks ambition, he is very apt to drift into a dull routine, a sort of a rut, and to become what our friends call "demoralized."

There are many men trudging along as handy men in various offices, stores, etc.

Some of them get downhearted and feel that there is no a chance.

We are glad that the letter we quote gives us a reason for speaking to these discouraged or demoralized men.

It is never too late to get back your moral tone. It is never too late for ambition to be aroused in you.

If the "general office man" will make up his mind to be a specialist, as well as a general man, he will get along.

If he makesup his mind to do one or two things particularly well and with particular display of energy, he will get along.

It is absolutely the fact that even the dullest employer appreciates the man that gives him money in the shape of good work.

And it is a fact that employers need good, hard, faithful workers much more than the workers need good employers.

An effort to do something particularly well may even be resented by a dull man as officiousness at first.

But the man who wants to succeed must succeed in spite of lack of appreciation, in spite of everything.

Work as a general utility clerk is dangerous, because such work does not compel a man to keep at one thing, as we have said.

There is speed to the stream with narrow banks. It loses its speed when the banks widen and the water spreads out all over the meadow.

The ordinary general office man is such a spreading stream with little power, little motion, little energy.

He must dig for himself his own banks, his own water course, he must control his direction, concentrate his power, make up his mind not to be demoralized, and he won't be demoralized.

Making Use of the Fat Man With the Armful of Coats and Rugs—

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—More than 80 per cent of battle-scarred Northern France had been restored to its former condition by the last of October—just six years after the allied armies were sweeping through the Argonne to end the greatest war in all history.

According to official information to the department of commerce, a big percentage of the houses destroyed during the war has been rebuilt; 80 per cent of the trenches used by the allied and German armies have been filled in; 90 per cent of the damaged canals reconstructed and 88 per cent of the factories put back into operation.

"While to a great extent the repairing of damages done in these regions was executed with government aid, nevertheless much is due to the energy and industry of 'private individuals and owners,'" Ellwood A. Welden, European expert of the department of commerce, said.

Welden said that information indicates the last scars of the great war would be removed from northern France by the middle of next year. Most of the agricultural lands have been reclaimed from the sanguinary trench cut fields. The miles of barbed wire have been removed, and the population has returned to its original dwellings. Manufacturing and mining industries have been reopened.

"The pre-war population of the reconstructed regions numbered approximately 4,690,000, while by November 11, 1918, this number had been reduced to 2,075,000," Welden said.

"On January 1, 1924, the population was 4,253,000. In 3,239 out of 3,244 communes the local administration has been reorganized fully. The number of public schools and postoffices in these districts exceeds that of pre-war days."

Shortly before the close of the war a corporation was organized known the credit national, to facilitate the repair of damages caused by the war. The company was formed by a group of the most important French banks, with a capital of 100,000,000 francs. Up to April 30, 1924, war sufferers had been paid about 54,000,000,000 francs. It is expected that the total damages paid to persons who suffered loss of property during the war will reach about 82,000,000,000 francs.

"Although the French government is undertaking the responsibility for financing reconstruction, a considerable part of the direct burden of cash payments has been distributed among the different agencies," Welden said.

The French treasury at the end of 1923 had furnished almost 27,000,000,000 francs.

Interesting figures as to industrial reconstruction are to be found in connection with the coal mines of the Nord and the Pas-de-Calais departments, according to Welden. "On January 1, 1924, there were 145 of the mines again in operation, with workers numbering nearly 96,000, or 4,000 more than in pre-war years," he continued. "The output in January, 1924, amounted to 1,222,000 tons, or 76 per cent of the average monthly output in 1913, as against a monthly average of only 1,535 tons in 1919."

Beyond that the bullet slows until the sound of the gun catches up with it and then outstrips it, which means ranges at which the victim might hear the crack of the rifle that kills him.

However, it seems that few fiction writers are experts in ballistics, for when they tell of the shooting of their characters they almost invariably have the sound of the gun preceding the impact of the bullet, even at comparatively close ranges where this would be utterly impossible. How often do we read that the hero "heard the sharp crack of a rifle and the next instant felt a stinging sensation in R. shoulder," or "heard the crash of the automatic and the next instant consciousness was obliterated," or some such expressions?

DOES A BULLET HISS OR SING?

They are all wrong about that, just as most of them are that depict the sound a bullet makes in its flight. According to the authors of the stirring tales that feature shooting, a moving bullet makes almost every conceivable sound. Inspection of a dozen such stories is said to have revealed the surprising versatility of a bullet in that it is variously described as singing, hissing, humming, whining, droning, howling, shrieking, whistling, crashing, whispering, buzzing, and what not.

Just what kind of a noise a speeding bullet does make is told by Captain E. C. Crossman in an article in Outers' Recreation. He says that it is a sharp crack, somewhat like that of an effectively manipulated bull-whip.

Battlefield observation is not, as a rule, very reliable, according to this authority, but a bullet does not change its sound because of being used in battle, and therefore if battlefield conditions as to range are duplicated, with the addition of entire knowledge of missile, distance and other factors it is possible to make accurate observations and arrive at sound conclusions.

"Our work at the army small arms ballistic station, in which keep observation at the receiving end of the bullet flight was as important as intelligent gun-laying at the firing end," says Captain Crossman, "permitted much data as to bullet noise at the various ranges.

"About the most definite proof that most of our fiction gentlemen get their firearms knowledge from reading other fiction, or possibly from cussory talks with gun-store clerks, is the fact that not one of them ever mentions the most characteristic sound of the modern bullet. The man who has had a long blacksnake whip cracked violently three feet from his ears would never describe the sound as a hiss or a whisper nor yet a howl.

"Modern cartridges drive their bullets fast enough to create a partial vacuum at the base, and the air, rushing in makes a sharp crack, most nearly described by the vicious cracking of a long and well-handled whip."

EXPERIMENTS AT MIAMI

One of the most illustrative examples of this noise, explains the captain, lay in the erosion firing done at Miami to determine the life of machine-gun barrels with various types of powder. The gun was laid to drop the bullets into the water at the 2,000-meter mark, one and a quarter miles from the gun, and in front of the observation tower. Sitting on the upper platform of the tower the officers observing could watch the strike of the burst, estimate its length, and accurately tell when the machine-gun barrel was wearing out.

The firing of the gun was always first announced, the observers found, by a sharp rattle in the receiver of the field telephone set on the platform with them, sounding much as if someone were ringing in on the line.

The next announcement of the coming of the bullets was a thin, sharp cracking noise from the air between the observers and the gun following the first rattle in the telephone with an interval of about five seconds. Almost on the heels of the first of the crackling noises came the bullets, with their thudding splashes into the water 50 yards away. An instant later, but imperceptible in its delay, says Captain Crossman, came the dull, heavy, thudding grumble of the machine gun. Wherefore, even at this long range, where the bullet is steadily losing out in its race with sound, the first notification of being under fire would come from the high, thin crackle of the bullets, not from any sound of the gun.

The captain also says that the bullet does not make any crackling noise after it falls in velocity to about 1,400 feet a second and the sound first came from a bullet which had taken about 2-2 seconds to reach its practically noiseless point.

The boat-tail bullet requires from five and one-half to six second to travel 2,000 meters, hence the slight interval between sound and bullet arrival. At longer ranges the bullet arrives still farther behind its own sound, while at shorter range the bullet arrives slightly ahead of it.

"The gun noise, of course, came at the rate of 1,100 feet per second," says Captain Crossman, "arriving perceptibly behind bullet poise. At longer ranges it would arrive before the bullet—which the average fiction writer thinks is true at short range, but it is not.

"At 1,000 yards the coming of such a bullet is announced by the very sharp and vicious characteristic crack of the high velocity bullet. The noise of the gun comes after it with an interval of about one second. The observer hears distinctly 'pack-punk' to testify that a high velocity bullet has passed close by him. The noise of the gun is merely a dull, heavy thudding sort of a sound.

"Even at 200 yards the sound interval can easily be distinguished between bullet and gun noise."

DINNER STORIES

"Jimmy," said the fond mother to her smart 11-year-old, "what became of that little pie I made for you as a treat yesterday? Did you eat it?"

"No, mamma," answered Jimmy with a grin. "I gave it to my teacher at school instead."

"That was very nice and generous of you, Jimmy," complimented his mother. "And did your teacher eat it?"

"Yes, I think so," answered Jimmy. "She wasn't at school today."

The secretary of the bar association was very busy and very cross one afternoon, when his telephone rang.

"Well, what is it?" he snapped.

"Is this the city gas works?" asked a woman's soft voice.

"No, madam," roared the secretary. "This is the bar association."

"Ah," came from the lady's end in the sweetest of tones, "I didn't miss it so far after all, did I?"

MOTOR TRUCK IN RUNAWAY

Two Jump as Machine Dashes Down Lisbon Street.

Two persons, narrowly escaped injury when a truck, loaded with household goods enroute from Salem to Steubenville, ran away on the Lisbon street hill, at 5 o'clock Thursday evening.

The truck, piled high with furniture started its wild dash, just after it turned the sharp curve at McBride's stop, and was caused, according to G. N. Edwards, Steubenville, driver and owner, by the breaking of the gears in the differential which controls the brakes.

As the machine increased momentum, Edwards leaped from his seat. His helper, Orsyl Montgomery, also of Steubenville, stayed with the machine until it reached a point within about 200 feet of the West End fire station and then he jumped. The truck swerved to the left side of the street, hurtled the curb, mounted an embankment and came to a stop when it struck a telephone pole.

The hood and cab of the truck was crushed like an egg shell, but the machine remained upright and the household furniture is not believed to have been damaged. Neither Edwards nor his helper was injured.

The furniture was loaded into another truck Friday and the wrecked machine towed to a garage.

mainly for school purposes that school teams should have the preference.

George Wilhelm, of the grounds committee, reported that complaint against the flooding of the lower end of the athletic field from the railroad water tower had been made to J. E. Hannahs, local freight agent. The board instructed Clerk E. J. Gaston to send a letter to the railroad company, through Mr. Hannahs, asking that some arrangement be made for the overflow water from the tank, in order to eliminate a mud hole which has become a nuisance at the rear of the grand stand.

A building, 12x16 feet, will be erected on the Glenmoor school site, in which the janitor and caretaker will reside, according to action taken at Thursday night's meeting. Since the school was erected a number of thefts have taken place at the building and by arranging for the janitor to live nearby he could also serve in the capacity of a watchman. The building also will be used as a store house for tools, brushes and supplies for the school. John Hughes, school board utility man, will supervise the erection of the building.

Superintendent's Report.

The board granted the Sunday school of St. John's Lutheran church permission to use the high school gymnasium one evening each week for practice sessions and games in the church basketball league. They will be permitted to use the floor between 6:30 o'clock on an evening which will be determined after a conference with the high school athletic officials. The rental fee will be $10.

Superintendent Geiger's statistical report showed a total enrollment of 5,161 for the last month of school, with a monthly enrollment of 4,891. The aggregate days durink the month was 94,625 and the average daily attendance 4,704. Cases of fardiness numbered 276; truancy 26; corporal punishment 79; pupils neither absent nor tardy, 2931; number received by transfer in city, 58; number lost by transfer out of city, 75; withdrawals, 83; number days teachers absent, 36½; number home visits 109; number visits by parents 261; number visits by superintendent 190.

Enrollment by grades was as follows: First, 681; second, 611; third, 563; fourth, 648; fifth, 583; sixth, 515; seventh, 421; eighth, 330; High school: Freshmen, 289; Sophomore, 214; Junior, 122; Senior, 84.

The board approved the appointment of Miss Mary Andrews, who recently returned to this city from California, as a substitute teacher until she can be placed permanently.

valuable only to Mr. McHenry. The papers were scattered over the floor.

With a box of tobies, valued at about $5 and a few packages of chewing gum in their possession, the thieves left the store without attracting attention and the robbery was not discovered until 7 o'clock Friday morning when Mr. McHenry opened the place for business.

Police were notiffed, and Patrolman William Lister was sent to investigate. He found a window in the rear of the store had been unlocked, the thieves evidently taking this precaution to facilitate their escape should they be discovered. The window, however, had not been raised which police say indicates that the robbers left by the front door the way they entered.

This is the second robbery in East Liverpool this week, in which a safe has been rifled. The Pennsylvania railroad station at Laughlin was looted and the safe wrecked Tuesday night. About a month ago, burglars entered the Ceramic theatre and made a getaway with a safe containing about $100.

While driving in North Market street, Lisbon shortly after 1:30 o'clock, Policeman H. L. Lewton observed a small car which had been run into a private driveway. Three men are said to have leaped from the auto at the officer's approach. Through the license plate on the car, officers learned of Brookes' connection and immediately came to East Liverpool. They found Brookes in bed, and, it is charged, underneath the bed was a collection of butcher knives.

Sunday school teachers, playing cards, should be decent enough to give up their teaching, he said. "If a lad has the instinct for gambling then I would want him to go to hell via some other route than by learning cards in my home, he said.

Hits Gambling in Homes.

Ohio laws, the evangelist said, held card players for a prize gamblers. Section 13006 of the state code so provides, he declared.

"Nine-tenths of all this country's gambling (save that of illegal buying and selling on the Board of Trade) is done by card playing," he averred, "and nine-tenths of all gamblers learned to play in the social games at home. That is why gambling conventions go on record for propagating card playing in the home.

"There is no difference between cards and flinch except that gambling is always associated with the former. You don't see gambling with any other game of any moment, do you?

"The wastage of time in card playing is no more serious than that of golf which takes practically a whole afternoon to play and prepare for. Gamblers could gamble with flinch and croquet, but they don't.

That gambling is on the increase was attested, the evangelist said, by the increased number of periodicals now devoted to gambling which includes many dailies.

"What kind of a Christian are you," he asked in conclusion," who would slip through the pearly gates to paradise without giving up a custom fraught with so many potentialities for evil. If we ask what Jesus would do on the premises we will make no mistake.

Dr. F. A. Dean made the concluding prayer at the afternoon service and Dr. Biederwolf himself the initial invocation. Mr. McEwan sang "Jesus, Blessed Jesus."

at the national capitol by a tremendous vote at the recent election, occupied a place of honor at the speakers' table.

While members of the club and guests were assembling prior to dinner, they were entertained in the church auditorium with organ selections by Walter Henstock of Wellsville.

Turkey Dinner Served.

Turkey dinner was served at 7 o'clock in the church dining rooms. The services was given by members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Wellsville church. President C. R. Boyce, opening the program immediately following dinner, introduced Chairman M. T. Abbott, who, in turn, presented members of the Pittsburgh Concert Co., including Jessie Yuille Yon, soprano; Mary Jones Sheriff, contralto and reader; Will Rhodes, tenor; Fred Newman, baritone; and William Reader, pianist and accompanist.

To Will Rhodes, whose circle of friends in the East Liverpool-Wellsville district is extensive, was accorded the honor of opening the two-hour program of music and reading. After several solo numbers, Mr. Rhodes joined with members of the company in quartet numbers, including Coleridge Taylor presentations, light opera selections and others.

Mrs. Mary Jones Sherill, the possessor of an excellent style and splendid speaking voice, entertained with a reading from a James Barrie play and responded to an encore with a humorous monologue in which she related the impressions of the effusive yound lady, whose knowledge of art is not quite up to par., at the art galleries.

"The Sweetest Story Ever Told" was sung by Mr. Rhodes and Mrs. Jessie Yuille Yon, the duet being followed by Fred Newman's baritone solo, "Tommy Lad."

Delightful Program.

Varying the program a little, Pianist William Reader rendered a lively jazz interpretation, and to an encore, responded with a Rachmaninoff selection.

"The Rosary," sung by the quartet, proved one of the groups most able expressions. Accompanied by Mr. Reader, Mrs. Yon gave three solo numbers, "Heart of Gold," "Little Shepherd," and "Coming Home."

The story of "The Count and the Wedding Guest," from O'Henry, was related in a reading by Mrs. Sherill, who further demonstrated her ability with a true to life interpretation of department store dialect in a reading relating the discussion between two girls of the hosiery counter talking of their love affairs. "In This Solemn Hour," a duet, was given by Mr. Rhodes and Mr. Newman.

The quartet concluded its program with three songs, "As Torrents in Summer," "Echo," and in the quartet arrangement from Lucia.

The Harmony Kings, an orchestra composed of Wellsville boys, furnished a program of music during the dinner.

Secret Societies' Membership List Publicity Upheld

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 7—The Walker law, aimed at the Ku Klux Klan, by the State Legislature, is constitutional, according to a decision handed down today by Justice Charles A. Pooley in Supreme court. The law requires filing of membership of secret societies with state officials.

Question of legality of the Walker law was raised by George C. Bryant, King Kleagle of the Klan here, in a Habeas Corpus proceeding from his arrest.

Judge Peter Maul in court had two questions before him which held pending Justice Pooley's ruling on the law. One is a John Doe proceeding for decision to place a quantity of Klan evidence before the grand jury and the other is whether Mark Hubbell, editor of a weekly paper here, should be adjudged in contempt of court and punished for refusal to answer a question whether he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Railroad stocks continued to monopolize speculative attention in the early trading on the stock market today. Stock prices moved briskly forward as a result of the heavy accumulation of buying orders from outside points, and the best previous prices of practically all of the non-dividend rails were eclipsed in this period. Leaders in this movement included the Katy stocks, St. Pauls, Chicago and Alton, Rock Island-Frisco common, New Haven, Texas and Pacific, Chicago, Great Western and Western Maryland.

The heavy demand for railroad stocks today was a continuation of the movemen twhich has been gradually sweeping prices of railroad stocks into higher levels and transforming the rails from the position of speculative footballs, held by them prior to 1923, to one of greater favor with investors and speculators. Though the present legislative outlook is quite favorable, the appeal of railroad stocks is principally in the prospect of better earnings and more liberal dividends, in which matter a number of roads have fulfilled expectations in the last two years.

STRAIGHT-FROM-SHOULDER BLOWS BY EVANGELIST W. E. BIEDERWOLF

Lot of people would like to be religious mugwumps, but Christ said "He who is not for Me is against Me."

There is no half way house for people who are too good to go to hell and too bad to go to heaven.

If I had a million years in which to talk I could not exhaust the subject of Salvation.

Salvation saves us from sin in this life and from hell in the next.

Many try to comfort themselves with the thought that the Bible view point of hell is metophorical and figurative, but if I know anything about a metapho it can never approximate the reality.

It is queer the Bible should tell us to flee from the wrath to come if there isn't any.

I would not give an ounce of the revealed word of God for a thousand opinions.

Man's rebellion makes necessary his confinement in this and the world to come.

Better neglect everything than your soul's salvation.

If more hell was preached in the pulpits there would be less hell in the community.

SHAVINGS AND SAWDUST FOUND IN DR. BIEDERWOLF'S TABERNACLE

Rev. A. H. O'Brien announced on Thursday night that the prayer service in the prayer room at the tabernacle on Friday night will be a special one in which persons having friends for whom they are praying and teachers with pupils for whom they are supplicating are to spread their names on paper before the Lord as King Hezekiah did in Palestinian days. Special prayers will be made for all these. The meetings will begin at 6:15 o'clock.

"Christian Science" will be the subject discussed by Dr. Biederwolf in the Sunday afternoon meeting at the tabernacle.

Speaking of his early college days, Dr. Biederwolf extolled the merit of beans as a food while telling of his then culinary activities. "And soup beans at that," he said. "If you invite me out have beans," he opined. "And porridge for me," muttered the irresistible McEwan, sitting "fernenst" the platform, his mind going back to his Scottish days.

All Sunday school superintendents of the co-operating Sunday schools will meet with Harry Watkin in the prayer room in the tabernacle following the service on Friday night.

Three services will be held in the tabernacle on Sunday. The hours will be 10:45, 2:30 and 7:30 o'clock. A union service of Christian Endeavorers will be held in the First Presbyterian church at 6:15 o'clock. All of these meetings will be for men and women.

G. O. P. Control

Iowa, Norris in Nebraska and Frazier and Ladd of North Dakota. There are more than half a dozen others who, while not affiliated with the so-called La Follette bloc, nevertheless have and probably will continue to vote with it in matters that are weighed on progressive scales.

There is Schall, who defeated Magnus Johnson, in Minnesota, for instance. He was known as one of the progressive firebrands of the house, bolting his party with impunity whenever he found the division wrong, which was not infrequent. Although a Republican he once cast his vote for speaker for Champ Clark in preference to Uncle Joe Cannon.

In South Dakota there are two senators now although nominally "regular," can by no stretch of imagination be deemed "conservative," in the sense that eastern Republicans are conservative. Johnson of California, Couzens of Michigan, Capper of Kansas and even Borah of Idaho. All these can ordinarily be depended upon, yet they are just irregular enough to be classified as independent. They have voted with La Follette and he with them on many issues.

House Margin Wider.

In the House the Republican margin of control is somewhat wider. Latest figures, with some outlying districts still in doubt, indicate that the Democrats will have 184 seats, the Republicans, 247, with four scattered.

Still later returns may change this slightly, but these figures are approximately correct. This allows a Republican majority over all of 55 seats. Take out the La Follette bloc of 16, and the Republicans still have a dependable working majority.

Already there are signs of Republican dissension as to the work of the 69th Congress.

It is the desire of Republican leaders to initiate as soon as possible tax reduction for the higher brackets that the 68th Congress, through the control of the Coalition by Democrats and Republican insurgents, refused to bring down below 37½ per cent.

Secretary Mellon already has stated that this will be one of the first acts of the next Congress. His experts are at work on the recommendations. Some conservative Republicans believe President Coolidge should call an extra session for this purpose soon after March 4.

Possible Electoral Vote 382.

On the other hand, some of the progressive Republicans are advising against it strongly. They point out that should an extra session of congress called simply to reduce the tax on big incomes such congress would be hailed by the Democratis "as the rich man's congress" and lead to presentment that might counter-act all of the gains made this week by Republican conservatism. If taxes could also be reduced proportionately in the lower brackets then it would be well and good, they say, but it is believed that taxes on smaller incomes have been already reduced as much as the treasury can well stand at this time.

President Coolidge is caught between these two fires and within three days after a great Republican triumph at the polls.

Today's belated returns from the west indicated that President Coolidge's total in the electoral college may reach 382, New Mexico wavering to his standard. If New Mexico flops in the Republican column, Davis' total would be cut to 136, leaving LaFollette 13.

in regard to safeguarding the ballots with the result that a telegram was sent to all county auditors by Walter C. Ramsay, secretary of state, which said:

"This office has been advised election of U. S. Senator will be contested. You are directed to preserve all ballots, papers and records relating thereto. Returns must not be opened until the meeting of the official canvassing board."

The official canvass will start November 24, and on its findings a certificate of election will be issued to Brookhart or Steck. The loser may then file charges of irregularities in the balloting sufficient to change the election. These charges must be filed with the secretary of the United States senate. Should there be a contest it will come before a special senate committee of the new senate.

MOTOR TRUCK IN RUNAWAY

Two Jump as Machine Dashes Down Lisbon Street.

Two persons, narrowly escaped injury when a truck, loaded with household goods enroute from Salem to Steubenville, ran away on the Lisbon street hill, at 5 o'clock Thursday evening.

The truck, piled high with furniture started its wild dash, just after it turned the sharp curve at McBride's stop, and was caused, according to G. N. Edwards, Steubenville, driver and owner, by the breaking of the gears in the differential which controls the brakes.

As the machine increased momentum, Edwards leaped from his seat. His helper, Orsyl Montgomery, also of Steubenville, stayed with the machine until it reached a point within about 200 feet of the West End fire station and then he jumped. The truck swerved to the left side of the street, hurtled the curb, mounted an embankment and came to a stop when it struck a telephone pole.

The hood and cab of the truck was crushed like an egg shell, but the machine remained upright and the household furniture is not believed to have been damaged. Neither Edwards nor his helper was injured.

The furniture was loaded into another truck Friday and the wrecked machine towed to a garage.

mainly for school purposes that school teams should have the preference.

George Wilhelm, of the grounds committee, reported that complaint against the flooding of the lower end of the athletic field from the railroad water tower had been made to J. E. Hannahs, local freight agent. The board instructed Clerk E. J. Gaston to send a letter to the railroad company, through Mr. Hannahs, asking that some arrangement be made for the overflow water from the tank, in order to eliminate a mud hole which has become a nuisance at the rear of the grand stand.

A building, 12x16 feet, will be erected on the Glenmoor school site, in which the janitor and caretaker will reside, according to action taken at Thursday night's meeting. Since the school was erected a number of thefts have taken place at the building and by arranging for the janitor to live nearby he could also serve in the capacity of a watchman. The building also will be used as a store house for tools, brushes and supplies for the school. John Hughes, school board utility man, will supervise the erection of the building.

Superintendent's Report.

The board granted the Sunday school of St. John's Lutheran church permission to use the high school gymnasium one evening each week for practice sessions and games in the church basketball league. They will be permitted to use the floor between 6:30 o'clock on an evening which will be determined after a conference with the high school athletic officials. The rental fee will be $10.

Superintendent Geiger's statistical report showed a total enrollment of 5,161 for the last month of school, with a monthly enrollment of 4,891. The aggregate days during the month was 94,625 and the average daily attendance 4,704. Cases of fardiness numbered 276; truancy 26; corporal punishment 79; pupils neither absent nor tardy, 2931; number received by transfer in city, 58; number lost by transfer out of city, 75; withdrawals, 83; number days teachers absent, 36½; number home visits 109; number visits by parents 261; number visits by superintendent 190.

Enrollment by grades was as follows: First, 681; second, 611; third, 663; fourth, 648; fifth, 583; sixth, 515; seventh, 421; eighth, 330; High school: Freshmen, 289; Sophomore, 214; Junior, 122; Senior, 84.

The board approved the appointment of Miss Mary Andrews, who recently returned to this city from California, as a substitute teacher until she can be placed permanently.

valuable only to Mr. McHenry. The papers were scattered over the floor.

With a box of tobies, valued at about $5 and a few packages of chewing gum in their possession, the thieves left the store without attracting attention and the robbery was not discovered until 7 o'clock Friday morning when Mr. McHenry opened the place for business.

Police were notiffed, and Patrolman William Lister was sent to investigate. He found a window in the rear of the store had been unlocked, the thieves evidently taking this precaution to facilitate their escape should they be discovered. The window, however, had not been raised which police say indicates that the robbers left by the front door the way they entered.

This is the second robbery in East Liverpool this week, in which a safe has been rifled. The Pennsylvania railroad station at Laughlin was looted and the safe wrecked Tuesday night. About a month ago, burglars entered the Ceramic theatre and made a getaway with a safe containing about $100.

While driving in North Market street, Lisbon shortly after 1:30 o'clock, Policeman H. L. Lewton observed a small car which had been run into a private driveway. Three men are said to have leaped from the auto at the officer's approach. Through the license plate on the car, officers learned of Brookes' connection and immediately came to East Liverpool. They found Brookes in bed, and, it is charged, underneath the bed was a collection of butcher knives.

Secret Societies' Membership List Publicity Upheld

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 7—The Walker law, aimed at the Ku Klux Klan, by the State Legislature, is constitutional, according to a decision handed down today by Justice Charles A. Pooley in Supreme court. The law requires filing of membership of secret societies with state officials.

Question of legality of the Walker law was raised by George C. Bryant, King Kleagle of the Klan here, in a Habeas Corpus proceeding from his arrest.

Judge Peter Maul in court had two questions before him which held pending Justice Pooley's ruling on the law. One is a John Doe proceeding for decision to place a quantity of Klan evidence before the grand jury and the other is whether Mark Hubbell, editor of a weekly paper here, should be adjudged in contempt of court and punished for refusal to answer a question whether he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Railroad stocks continued to monopolize speculative attention in the early trading on the stock market today. Stock prices moved briskly forward as a result of the heavy accumulation of buying orders from outside points, and the best previous prices of practically all of the non-dividend rails were eclipsed in this period. Leaders in this movement included the Katy stocks, St. Pauls, Chicago and Alton, Rock Island-Frisco common, New Haven, Texas and Pacific, Chicago, Great Western and Western Maryland.

The heavy demand for railroad stocks today was a continuation of the movemen twhich has been gradually sweeping prices of railroad stocks into higher levels and transforming the rails from the position of speculative footballs, held by them prior to 1923, to one of greater favor with investors and speculators. Though the present legislative outlook is quite favorable, the appeal of railroad stocks is principally in the prospect of better earnings and more liberal dividends, in which matter a number of roads have fulfilled expectations in the last two years.

STRAIGHT-FROM-SHOULDER BLOWS BY EVANGELIST W. E. BIEDERWOLF

Lot of people would like to be religious mugwumps, but Christ said "He who is not for Me is against Me."

There is no half way house for people who are too good to go to hell and too bad to go to heaven.

If I had a million years in which to talk I could not exhaust the subject of Salvation.

Salvation saves us from sin in this life and from hell in the next.

Many try to comfort themselves with the thought that the Bible view point of hell is metophorical and figurative, but if I know anything about a metapho it can never approximate the reality.

It is queer the Bible should tell us to flee from the wrath to come if there isn't any.

I would not give an ounce of the revealed word of God for a thousand opinions.

Man's rebellion makes necessary his confinement in this and the world to come.

Better neglect everything than your soul's salvation.

If more hell was preached in the pulpits there would be less hell in the community.

SHAVINGS AND SAWDUST FOUND IN DR. BIEDERWOLF'S TABERNACLE

Rev. A. H. O'Brien announced on Thursday night that the prayer service in the prayer room at the tabernacle on Friday night will be a special one in which persons having friends for whom they are praying and teachers with pupils for whom they are supplicating are to spread their names on paper before the Lord as King Hezekiah did in Palestinian days. Special prayers will be made for all these. The meetings will begin at 6:15 o'clock.

"Christian Science" will be the subject discussed by Dr. Biederwolf in the Sunday afternoon meeting at the tabernacle.

Speaking of his early college days, Dr. Biederwolf extolled the merit of beans as a food while telling of his then culinary activities. "And soup beans at that," he said. "If you invite me out have beans," he opined. "And porridge for me," muttered the irresistible McEwan, sitting "feminst" the platform, his mind going back to his Scottish days.

All Sunday school superintendents of the co-operating Sunday schools will meet with Harry Watkin in the prayer room in the tabernacle following the service on Friday night.

Three services will be held in the tabernacle on Sunday. The hours will be 10:45, 2:30 and 7:30 o'clock. A union service of Christian Endeavorers will be held in the First Presbyterian church at 6:15 o'clock. All of these meetings will be for men and women.

G. O. P. Control

Iowa, Norris in Nebraska and Frazier and Ladd of North Dakota. There are more than half a dozen others who, while not affiliated with the so-called La Follette bloc, nevertheless have and probably will continue to vote with it in matters that are weighed on progressive scales.

There is Schall, who defeated Magnus Johnson, in Minnesota, for instance. He was known as one of the progressive firebrands of the house, bolting his party with impunity whenever he found the division wrong, which was not infrequent. Although a Republican he once cast his vote for speaker for Champ Clark in preference to Uncle Joe Cannon.

In South Dakota there are two senators now although nominally "regular," can by no stretch of imagination be deemed "conservative," in the sense that eastern Republicans are conservative. Johnson of California, Couzens of Michigan, Capper of Kansas and even Borah of Idaho. All these can ordinarily be depended upon, yet they are just irregular enough to be classified as independent. They have voted with La Follette and he with them on many issues.

House Margin Wider.

In the House the Republican margin of control is somewhat wider. Latest figures, with some outlying districts still in doubt, indicate that the Democrats will have 184 seats, the Republicans, 247, with four seattered.

Still later returns may change this slightly, but these figures are approximately correct. This allows a Republican majority over all of 55 seats. Take out the La Follette bloc of 16, and the Republicans still have a dependable working majority.

Already there are signs of Republican dissension as to the work of the 69th Congress.

It is the desire of Republican leaders to initiate as soon as possible tax reduction for the higher brackets that the 68th Congress, through the control of the Coalition by Democrats and Republican insurgents, refused to bring down below 37½ per cent.

Secretary Mellon already has stated that this will be one of the first acts of the next Congress. His experts are at work on the recommendations. Some conservative Republicans believe President Coolidge should call an extra session for this purpose soon after March 4.

Possible Electoral Vote 382.

On the other hand, some of the progressive Republicans are advising against it strongly. They point out that should an extra session of congress called simply to reduce the tax on big incomes such congress would be hailed by the Democratis "as the rich man's congress" and lead to presentment that might counter-act all of the gains made this week by Republican conservatism. If taxes could also be reduced proportionately in the lower brackets then it would be well and good, they say, but it is believed that taxes on smaller incomes have been already reduced as much as the treasury can well stand at this time.

President Coolidge is caught between these two fires and within three days after a great Republican triumph at the polls.

Today's belated returns from the west indicated that President Coolidge's total in the electoral college may reach 382, New Mexico wavering to his standard. If New Mexico flops in the Republican column, Davis' total would be cut to 136, leaving LaFollette 13.

in regard to safeguarding the ballots with the result that a telegram was sent to all county auditors by Walter C. Ramsay, secretary of state, which said:

"This office has been advised election of U. S. Senator will be contested. You are directed to preserve all ballots, papers and records relating thereto. Returns must not be opened until the meeting of the official canvassing board."

The official canvass will start November 24, and on its findings a certificate of election will be issued to Brookhart or Steck. The loser may then file charges of irregularities in the balloting sufficient to change the election. These charges must be filed with the secretary of the United States senate. Should there be a contest it will come before a special senate committee of the new senate.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Doubts His Love

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 16 and I have been going with a boy of 21 for two months and I love him. He says he loves me but I doubt it. I have tried not to show my love. He asked me to give up other boys which I did. Whenever he comes he always asks me what I have been doing and I always tell him of the other boys that pester me for dates because I want him to see that he is not the only one whom I could go with. Sunday night he was an hour late because he had a breakdown and could not get here sooner. He asked me what I would have done if he would not have come. I told him I was going to a show with the fellow next door, which was true. He was very dull all evening after that. I could not start a conversation. When he was ready to go he said, "I don't believe you want to see me again." I told him that I did want to see him if he wanted to come. He said then that he would be down Thursday night. He did not come Thursday. Do you think that he will ever come? Have I done anything to make him leave? Was he very much of a gentleman for acting that way? Please advise me.

"SAD SMILES.

Yes, I think he will come again, dear little "Sad Smiles." You see his feelings were hurt at the thought that you would not stay at home and mourn for him if he did not come that Sunday night, and he thought he was getting even with you on Thursday. It was not a gentlemanly thing to do, but I think I would forgive him if I liked him so much although I would give him to understand that if he broke a date with me again I would not overlook it. You certainly do not want to settle down to going with one boy at sixteen years old, and my advice to you is to have a good time with all your boy friends for several more years. Your friend should make things so pleasant for you that you would not have time for other boys if he expects to monopolize your society.

Should She Be Friends?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl of 19. I have gone with a number of nice young men. Off and on for three years I kept company with a young man two years younger than myself. My folks were very fond of him and so was I. I thought the world of him, and do yet. Then I did not hear from him for two weeks, but I found out he was going with a girl whose reputation was very badly spoiled. He has quit this young girl, finding out that she was not what he thought she was. And now he speaks to me and draws my attention to him. Should I accept a date if he should ask me to go with him again, or should I not speak or have anything to do with him? SMILES.

I should certainly speak to the young man, Smiles, and show him that I hold no grudge against him. He will appreciate your friendship all the more after his disappointment with the wrong kind of girl.

LONE BUG: Have as little to do with the trouble-maker as possible. Do not cut her entirely because she will become more vicious, but be most cautious about what you tell her and avoid conversations with her. Try not to think about your trouble, because as long as you carry around a heavy heart others will not enjoy your company.

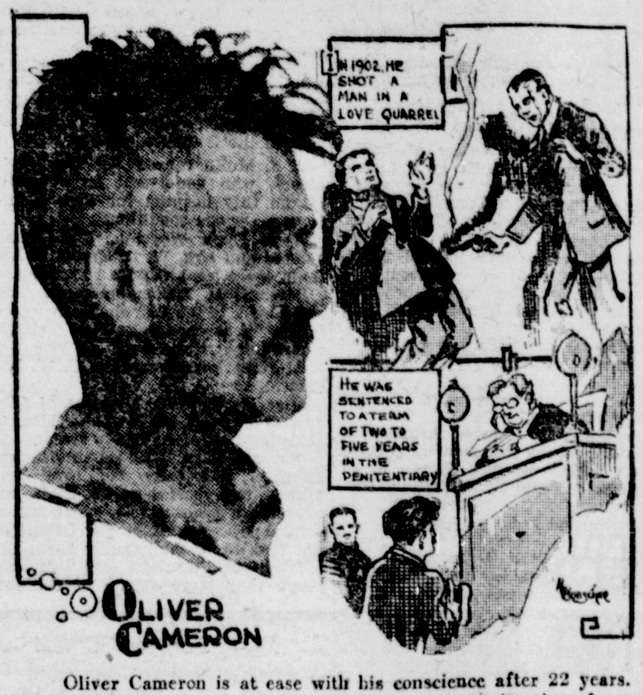
Confesses Crime After 22 Years To Ease Torturing Conscience



Oliver Cameron is at ease with his conscience after 22 years. He has began to serve a term in Alabama state penitentiary for a crime he committed in 1902. Tormented by his guilt since he escaped after attempting to kill a man in a love affair, he sought to commit suicide in Portland, Ore. When rescued from a watery grave, he confessed his guilt and was returned to Birmingham.

THOUSANDS of users have wondered at the quickness of the action of Resinol Ointment and Soap. The answer is that it is not a surface treatment, but one that reaches the depths of the pores and attacks the source of the disorder, starting the healing right.

The first touch relieves the itching, burning and soreness and a few days' persistent use rarely fails to clear away the trouble.

When the skin is once restored to its normal condition, the daily use of Resinol Soap is generally sufficient to keep it healthy. Ideal for the complexion—unsurpassed for the bath and shampoo. Ask your druggist what he knows about the Resinol products.

COLUMBUS.—Farmers as well as other groups of shippers are profiting through the organization of regional shippers' advisory boards, says C. S. Long, traffic manager of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. These regional boards, he stated, were organized by the American Railway association to bring the shippers and carriers in closer contact. Long, who is a representative on both of the boards covering Ohio territory, said that difficulties of cooperative marketing organizations have been cleared up in several instances by referring these problems to operating officials of railroads serving on these boards.

"Gentlemen:

I am so wonderfully happy over my discovery, I feel I must tell the world about it. For years I have been ill continually from constipation, always resorting to pills or the like, never having any permanent relief until I heard of your Krumbled Bran.

Every morning I take two tablespoonfuls before my breakfast—and since the latter part of August I must admit have not experienced one sick spell which I have had for years. I have started my little girl of four years on your Bran, and already I have noticed a change in her. I thank you."

Name and address furnished on request. Write the Kellogg Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic cases of constipation. Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Money returned if not effective.

Notice the wonderful nut-like flavor. This flavor is delicious—so different from ordinary, unpalatable brans.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, made in Battle Creek, is served by America's leading hotels and clubs. Demand Kellogg's Bran. It will bring back your health. Start eating it today. Sold by all grocers.

Tormented by his guilt since he escaped after attempting to kill a man in a love affair, he sought to commit suicide in Portland, Ore. When rescued from a watery grave, he confessed his guilt and was returned to Birmingham.

COLUMBUS.—Farmers as well as other groups of shippers are profiting through the organization of regional shippers' advisory boards, says C. S. Long, traffic manager of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. These regional boards, he stated, were organized by the American Railway association to bring the shippers and carriers in closer contact. Long, who is a representative on both of the boards covering Ohio territory, said that difficulties of cooperative marketing organizations have been cleared up in several instances by referring these problems to operating officials of railroads serving on these boards.

How quickly that rash disappeared!

THOUSANDS of users have wondered at the quickness of the action of Resinol Ointment and Soap. The answer is that it is not a surface treatment, but one that reaches the depths of the pores and attacks the source of the disorder, starting the healing right.

The first touch relieves the itching, burning and soreness and a few days' persistent use rarely fails to clear away the trouble.

When the skin is once restored to its normal condition, the daily use of Resinol Soap is generally sufficient to keep it healthy. Ideal for the complexion—unsurpassed for the bath and shampoo. Ask your druggist what he knows about the Resinol products.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

Q. Is there a point on the earth's surface at which point it has been agreed that the new day begins? H. P. B.

A. The Naval Observatory says each day begins at East Cape, the easternmost extremity of Siberia, before it begins at any other place.

A. Certain leaves change color re, less of frost. A. C. W.

A Certain leaves change color regardless of attack by frost. Coloration indicates a dying condition of the leaves. This condition may set in at almost any part of the tree and may occur very early in the season due to drought or disease or injury of some kind. There is no set rule in what part of the leaves the color first appears. In fact some leaves start at the tops, some along the mid-rib and some are mottled. In the normal course of coloration, you might reasonably expect the oldest leaves on the terminal branches to color first. The scarlet oak holds its coloration last. The weeping willow and elderberry remain green until the leaves are all gone because even though the leaves are dying, the chlorophyll is not taken back into the trunk.

Q. Did President Wilson speak enough French to see him through the Peace Conference? J .M. W.

A. The late President Wilson had a general knowledge of the French knowledge of the French language but was not sufficiently fluent to dispense with the services of an official interpreter during the Peace Conference in Paris.

Q. How Many married women are gainfully employed? How does this compare with the number employed 20 or 30 years ago? G. E.

A. The latest census of the United States shows that there are 2,000,000 married women who are gainfully employed outside of their homes. The number is steadily increasing. In 1890 only five in every hundred married women worked, but in 1923 it has risen to nine in every hundred.

Q. In a game of poker can the player opening a pool, split two small pair and draw three cards? E. W. S.

A. In Jack Pot Poker, an opener is supposed to protect his discard. He can then split openers without announcing his play until the hand is over. Otherwise it is necessary for the opener to announce his discard if he splits openers. Two small pair are of course, openers.

Q. Where is Behning Forest? T. T.

A. The Benning National Forest is near Columbus, Georgia. It has just been formally created by proclamation of the President. This forest is located within the area embraced by the Fort Benning Military Reservation, the forest boundaries including about 80 per cent of the military reservation, or 78,500 acres.

Q. Are more baby carriages manufactured now than were manufactured several years ago? S. S.

A. The Department of Commerce announced that, according to data collected in 1923, the establishments engaged primarily in the manufacture of children's carriages and sleds reported products valued at $34,172,976, an increase of 57.4 per cent as compared with 1921, the last preceding census year. The establishments covereed by this industry classification are those which manufacture, as their principal products, baby carriages, "walkers," go-carts, sleds, doll carriages, and children's velocipedes and tricycles.

Q. What is the average number of times that children are ill each year? D. S.

A. The Public Health Department says that the only studies that it knows of in regard to the length of sickness per family in the United States for medical attention was made in Hagerstown, Md., but the result of the investigation is an example of what might be expected of other cities and communities. This investigation was confined entirely to school children. In the terms of averages it was found that each child of a large group of children in the public schools was ill during the school session 2 3-10 times. Common colds, headaches, digestive disorders, tonsilitis, etc., seemed to cause more absence than any other conditions.

Many Are Taking New Nerve Medicine;- Yesterday Scores Told Wonderful Experiences

Mrs. W. G. Marion said; World's Tonic Relieved My Husband and Myself of Our Ailments. My Husband Was Run Down; I Suffered From Rheumatic Pains."

Mrs. W. G. Marion, 1231 Center street, Wellsville, said: "My husband was in a run down condition, the result of the flu several years ago. He was tired all the time and a day's work simply played him out.

He didn't sleep good, and in the morning he felt worn out. His stomach bothered him, too. His appetite was poor and his food didn't agree with him. After he had taken World's Tonic for a comparatively short time, he felt improved in every way. His appetite is better and he relishes what he eats.

"He sleeps all night, and when he gets up he feels ready for his day's work. His food gives him more nourishment and his general condition is much improved.

"I had rheumatic pains. My kidneys were out of order, I guess. The pains seemed to be all through my body, first one place and then another and they kept me feeling badly all the time.

"I took World's Tonic at the time my husband did and it gave me wonderful relief. My kidneys are better and the rheumatic pains have almost disappeared. World's Tonic helped both of us and we are glad to recommend it to our friends."

Many written statements similar to the above are daily received from people who are taking World's Tonic. World's tonic is especially valuable for treating dyspepsia, loss of appetite, indigestion, heartburn, headaches, dizzy spells and general run-down conditions.

Get World's Tonic today at Carnahan's 114 East Sixth street, East End, and C. N. Brannon's, Wellsville, and all real Drug Stores—only $1.00 a bottle.

Victrola Christmas Club Be A Member

Buying the Christmas Victrola on the Club Plan is like buying a life subscription to all the famous entertainments in the world, from grand opera to jazz. You know that Victor has the artists who really count, and the instrument to do them justice.

You can buy a lesser instrument than one of Victor make. You may get easier terms on a more cheaply constructed affair, but you can not get as good or better quality or a more satisfactory musical investment than that which our Victrola Christmas Club brings you.

Victrolas and Victor Records are standard trademarked products of twenty-five years' succesful leadership in making homes happier with music. A firm of our standing can't afford to take a chance in what it sells. Neither should you, in what you buy. That's why we say, for complete satisfaction:

Answers to Questions

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

Q. Is there a point on the earth's surface at which point it has been agreed that the new day begins? H. P. B.

A. The Naval Observatory says each day begins at East Cape, the easternmost extremity of Siberia, before it begins at any other place.

A. Certain leaves change color re, less of frost. A. C. W.

A Certain leaves change color regardless of attack by frost. Coloration indicates a dying condition of the leaves. This condition may set in at almost any part of the tree and may occur very early in the season due to drought or disease or injury of some kind. There is no set rule in what part of the leaves the color first appears. In fact some leaves start at the tops, some along the mid-rib and some are mottled. In the normal course of coloration, you might reasonably expect the oldest leaves on the terminal branches to color first. The scarlet oak holds its coloration last. The weeping willow and elderberry remain green until the leaves are all gone because even though the leaves are dying, the chlorophyll is not taken back into the trunk.

Q. Did President Wilson speak enough French to see him through the Peace Conference? J .M. W.

A. The late President Wilson had a general knowledge of the French knowledge of the French language but was not sufficiently fluent to dispense with the services of an official interpreter during the Peace Conference in Paris.

Q. How Many married women are gainfully employed? How does this compare with the number employed 20 or 30 years ago? G. E.

A. The latest census of the United States shows that there are 2,000,000 married women who are gainfully employed outside of their homes. The number is steadily increasing. In 1890 only five in every hundred married women worked, but in 1923 it has risen to nine in every hundred.

Q. In a game of poker can the player opening a pool, split two small pair and draw three cards? E. W. S.

A. In Jack Pot Poker, an opener is supposed to protect his discard. He can then split openers without announcing his play until the hand is over. Otherwise it is necessary for the opener to announce his discard if he splits openers. Two small pair are of course, openers.

Q. Where is Benning Forest? T. T.

A. The Benning National Forest is near Columbus, Georgia. It has just been formally created by proclamation of the President. This forest is located within the area embraced by the Fort Benning Military Reservation, the forest boundaries including about 80 per cent of the military reservation, or 78,500 acres.

Q. Are more baby carriages manufactured now than were manufactured several years ago? S. S.

A. The Department of Commerce announced that, according to data collected in 1923, the establishments engaged primarily in the manufacture of children's carriages and sleds reported products valued at $34,172,976, an increase of 57.4 per cent as compared with 1921, the last preceding census year. A. The Public Health Department says that the only studies that it knows of in regard to the length of sickness per family in the United States for medical attention was made in Hagerstown, Md., but the result of the investigation is an example of what might be expected of other cities and communities. This investigation was confined entirely to school children. In the terms of averages it was found that each child of a large group of children in the public schools was ill during the school session 3 3-10 times. Common colds, headaches, digestive disorders, tonsilitis, etc., seemed to cause more absence than any other conditions.

Many Are Taking New Nerve Medicine;- Yesterday Scores Told Wonderful Experiences

Mrs. W. G. Marion said; World's Tonic Relieved My Husband and Myself of Our Ailments. My Husband Was Run Down; I Suffered From Rheumatic Pains."

Mrs. W. G. Marion, 1231 Center street, Wellsville, said: "My husband was in a run down condition, the result of the flu several years ago. He was tired all the time and a day's work simply played him out.

He didn't sleep good, and in the morning he felt worn out. His stomach bothered him, too. His appetite was poor and his food didn't agree with him. After he had taken World's Tonic for a comparatively short time, he felt improved in every way. His appetite is better and he relishes what he eats.

"He sleeps all night, and when he gets up he feels ready for his day's work. His food gives him more nourishment and his general condition is much improved.

"I had rheumatic pains. My kidneys were out of order, I guess. The pains seemed to be all through my body, first one place and then another and they kept me feeling badly all the time.

"I took World's Tonic at the time my husband did and it gave me wonderful relief. My kidneys are better and the rheumatic pains have almost disappeared. World's Tonic helped both of us and we are glad to recommend it to our friends."

Many written statements similar to the above are daily received from people who are taking World's Tonic. World's tonic is especially valuable for treating dyspepsia, loss of appetite, indigestion, heartburn, headaches, dizzy spells and general run-down conditions.

Get World's Tonic today at Carnahan's 114 East Sixth street, East End, and C. N. Brannon's, Wellsville, and all real Drug Stores—only $1.00 a bottle.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND
BY DAISY DEAN

Speaking of new faces in Filmland (which is something we frequently do), the countenance of a comparative newcomer, June Marlowe, is well worth speaking about and looking at as well. She is called by Warner Bros. Co., with whom she has a contract, "The most beautiful girl in pictures," and according to her photos they are not far wrong.

June Marlowe was born in St. Cloud, Minn., and has been in pictures about two years. Her first work for the fil-lums was in 1922 with Lloyd Hamilton in comedies. She soon attracted attention and was given a contract with Warner Bros. to star in their "Classics of the Screen." She lent her beauty to "Find Your Man," which starred Rin Tin Tin, the canine star.

How far June's beautiful brown eyes and hair and pleasing personality will carry her remains to be seen. Beauty is a great asset in photoplays, in our estimation. It is a little hard to visualize the noble hero falling immediately and desperately in love with a girl who is homely, no matter how well she emotes. On the other hand, if to look lovely is all she can do her pictures are part to pall. Let us hope that Miss June combines brains with beauty.

Her history so far, points to this "consummation devoutly to be wished."

Just two years ago Louise Fazenda donned beautiful gowns and stepped into her first drama at Warner Bros. studio in "The Beautiful and Damned." Since then she has kept busy combining comedy with the deeper emotions. In "The Lighthouse by the Sea" she has a role that has no remedy relief. Louise, called, "Queen of comedy," is proving her versatility by doing fine work in this sombre setting.

It is rumored that "L'Aiglon" is under consideration for photo production. George Hackathorne has been mentioned for the title role and has been photographed made up for the dual part of Napoleon and "the eaglet."

David Torrence nearly met his Waterloo in his role of banker in Frank Lloyd's "Judgment," the other day. He had to play in a scene with a dog and a baby. The dog was one of the playful kind and Torrence was supposed to put the baby to sleep. He wasn't used to babies and was afraid something might go wrong with its back, and the sportive canine did not add to his joy. All went well, however, but David is willing to rest on his laurels with both babies and dogs for some time to come.

"The Air Hawk," starring Al. Wilson, famous stunt aviator, will be released soon through F. O. B. It is said to be one of the most sensational pictures ever made. Virginia Brown Faire is the feminine lead.

A number of promising young pugilists will be seen in Dick Talmadge's new picture, "Hail the Hero." In spite of the fact that Dick nearly killed himself in his last picture by breaking his neck, this new one is fuller of thrills than ever. Eva Novak plays opposite him in "Hail the Hero."

LAND SOUGHT BY RAILROAD

Fort Wayne to Build 15 Mile Cut Off at Bayard.

By filing an appropriation petition in probate court, it was revealed that the board of directors of the Ft. Wayne Railroad company, as early as September last, approved the proposal to construct a 15-mile cut off from Canton east to connect with the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad at Bayard, and that this action of the board was approved by the stockholders at a meeting held early last spring.

The railroad company now proposes to acquire 7.534 acres of land in the vicinity of Bayard, and being unable to agree on a purchase price for this property has come into probate court and through its counsel, McCarty, filed a petition in appropriation. The Armstrong, Burt and Kinnison, have time for the hearing of the petition has not been set by the court.

The action has been filed against Clay O. Burger and others, heirs of Jacob and Lydia Burger, the company seeking 3.26 acres from this farm, which is located in section 30, West township.

Map Out Legislative Program For 'Lame Duck' Congress Meet

Appropriation Bills, Barkley-Howell Railroad Measure and Tax and Freight Rate Reductions on Calendar.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The legislative program for the closing session of the present "lame duck" congress, which reconvenes December 1, and ends on March 4, is being mapped out by leaders of the house.

Major matters for consideration in the order in which they will be presented are:

Appropriations bills for the next fiscal year, totalling about $2,750,000,000.

Consideration of the Barkley-Howell railroad bill ending the existence of the railroad labor board and setting up in its stead regional boards of meditation and arbitration made up of representatives of railroad management and railroad labor and a general review board on which the public is to have representation.

Tax reduction legislation requiring 10 reports from the secretary of the treasury to the president on treasury surpluses and reposing authority in the president to order refund of the surplus to the taxpayers.

Direction to the interstate commerce commission to require reduction in freight rates to shippers with special reference to rates on agricultural products.

Amendments to the immigration law to permit admissions under quotas of selected relatives of naturalized aliens or those to be naturalized, requiring deportation of undesirable aliens and law breakers and providing for some system of registration and report from aliens admitted.

Methuselah Mere Stripling of 80, Professor Says

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 7.—That Methuselah isn't even the oldest man in the annals of history is the firm belief of Prof. R. T. Crawford, of the astronomy department of the University of California.

"According to Genesis, Methuselah attained the improbable age of 969 years," he said.

"However, the people of that era reckoned time by cycles—a term which many of us have misinterpreted as being the equivalent of one of our calendar years, whereas in all probability the Biblical term 'cycle' means a lunar cycle, or a period of time about equal to one of our months.

Figured in this way Methuselah's age comes to about 80 years."

Speeding Road Work.

ATHENS.—Perfect fall weather, the dryest October in several decades, is bringing state highway work to a close in Athens county, and in the next fortnight the road to the south, Pomeroy and the Ohio river, will be open, it is said. This will mean a new Lake-to-river route for Ohio through Athens.

American Colleges At Saturation Point Says Maccabee Head

DETROIT.—Unprecedented increases in enrollment of students are overwhelming the universities of the United States and bringing them near the saturation point in the number of young people who may go to college, according to A. W. Frye, supreme commander of the Maccabees, in an address here.

"For the first time in 289 years Harvard had to limit its freshman class to 1,000 this Fall," said Mr. Frye. "This is equal to Harvard's registration fifty years ago. Yale restricted its freshmen to $50, although it had applications for 1,000. Amherst, Williams and Dartmouth had the largest number of new men in more than a century. Vassar and Wellesley are struggling to keep their enrollment down to the predetermined limit."

Legion to Build Home.

ATHENS—The Athens American Legion post is looking for a site suitable for a home, near the center of the city. The Legion intends to build with money turned over to it from the War Chest balance. Several months ago an effort was made to buy one of the old fraternity homes on Ohio University campus.

LOGAN.—Joe Bond, driver of a truck for the state highway department, was so severely scalded in removing the radiator cap of his machine that hospital treatment was necessary. He will recover, physicians said, unless complications set in.

Map Out Legislative Program For 'Lame Duck' Congress Meet

Appropriation Bills, Barkley-Howell Railroad Measure and Tax and Freight Rate Reductions on Calendar.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The legislative program for the closing session of the present "lame duck" congress, which reconvenes December 1, and ends on March 4, is being mapped out by leaders of the house.

Major matters for consideration in the order in which they will be presented are:

Appropriations bills for the next fiscal year, totalling about $2,750,000,000.

Consideration of the Barkley-Howell railroad bill ending the existence of the railroad labor board and setting up in its stead regional boards of meditation and arbitration made up of representatives of railroad management and railroad labor and a general review board on which the public is to have representation.

Tax reduction legislation requiring 10 reports from the secretary of the treasury to the president on treasury surpluses and reposing authority in the president to order refund of the surplus to the taxpayers.

Direction to the interstate commerce commission to require reduction in freight rates to shippers with special reference to rates on agricultural products.

Amendments to the immigration law to permit admissions under quotas of selected relatives of naturalized aliens or those to be naturalized, requiring deportation of undesirable aliens and law breakers and providing for some system of registration and report from aliens admitted.

Methuselah Mere Stripling of 80, Professor Says

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 7.—That Methuselah isn't even the oldest man in the annals of history is the firm belief of Prof. R. T. Crawford, of the astronomy department of the University of California.

"According to Genesis, Methuselah attained the improbable age of 969 years," he said.

"However, the people of that era reckoned time by cycles—a term which many of us have misinterpreted as being the equivalent of one of our calendar years, whereas in all probability the Biblical term 'cycle' means a lunar cycle, or a period of time about equal to one of our months.

Figured in this way Methuselah's age comes to about 80 years."

Recently completed stretch of roadway between Midland and Industry will probably be opened for traffic early next week. The state law requires that 21 days elapse before improved highways are thrown open, but the rule is expected to be waived in this instance. Do You Belong to the "rank and file?"

THE rank and file always follow the line of least resistance, financially. That is why they are of the rank and file and not among the leaders.

Of course, it is not easy to step out from the crowd, but a savings account backed up by real grit will help you to a place of recognition.

Much depends upon this small everyday economy. The man who gets ahead is the man who determines to save regularly, come what may.

DR. BIEDERWOLF'S THURSDAY NIGHT SERMON

The sermon of Dr. Biederwolf Thursday evening was as follows:

There are a lot of people who would like to be religious mugwumps, but Jesus said, No, sir, you'll have to be out and out for me and not ashamed of me or 'Ill count you on the other side. "He that is not with me is against me," He says.

A man said to me the other day, "It's too bad that so many people will persist in going to hell." Yes, it is too bad, but one thing is sure, if a man will not go to heaven, there is no other place for him to go but to hell.

Jesus said, "Wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth unto destruction, and many there be that go in thereat," but He said the other gate was narrow and there wouldn't be so many that would find it. Every man and woman in this great audience tonight is either saved or lost, and you will be when you go out the doors of this building, and you will be in that great and terrible day when,

"The sun grows old, the moon grows cold,
And the leaves of the judgment book unfold."

You are saved or you are lost and you will be. There's no half way house for people who are too good to go to hell and just a little too bad to go to heaven.

Now, if you are lost tonight there's a reason for it. If you have lived your life through and come to this night without God and without hope in the world, there's a reason for it and just one.

It is this reason that brings to my mind a passage of Scripture that ought to startle every unsaved man into a sense of your great peril when you hear it.

A Hard Question.

The Scripture is written in the form of a question and it's a hard question to answer. I stood yesterday in the workshop of an electrician and he told me many things. He spoke about volts, kilowats and ampers, about magnetism, electrodes, polarization and other things mysterious to me, but he could not give the answer to the question of my text.

I sat in the office of a prominent physician a little while ago and he talked to me about therapeutics, and anesthesia, and materia medica, and spinal neuhasthenia, and pan-genesis, and endocarditis, and rheumatoid arthritis, and diptheritic globulin, and rheumatic phylocogen, and bacilus hypertoxicus, and he told me many things I never knew before, but when I put to him the question of my text he sat as one dumb before me.

I could talk with your eminent lawyers and they could tell me all about the codes and statutes, about organic law and international law, but they could not answer the question of my text. And I could do the same with any man of any other profession.

Then if weary with the ignorance of man I could take the wings of the morning and fly to the place of the presence of the throne of God, the Lord God of heaven would say: "There is no answer here." And if the Lord God commissioned an angel messenger to wing his flight to that far off place of outer darkness, that angel might go and stand before the bars that shut in the lost to their eternal imprisonment; he could read upon their faces the literature of eternal despair, could hear their groans and sighs, the weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth, but his journey would be in vain, and he would fly back to the throne of God, sit down and "fold his wings like a tired dove," and I'd have to come back from the eternal world to this meeting and have no answer to the question of the text. There is no answer to it. It may seem like a paradox, but it is true.

We Can't Escape.

You will find my text in Hebrews 3:2, "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation." We can't escape; there is no way to escape if we neglect it.

The Bible calls it a great salvation and it is. If I had a million years to talk I could not exhaust the theme of its greatness. There are reasons upon reasons why it is great.

Great in its origin.
Great in its development, and
Great in its consummation.

But of all the reasons why it is great, the greatest to me, are these:

Great because of what it saves us from, and

Great because of what it saves us to.

First. It saves us from sin in this life.

Saved From Sin.

I have a friend who was saved from a life of very great sin through Jesus Christ. One day walking down the street he noticed a lady drop her handkerchief. He was almost 20 feet behind when he picked it up he saw it was a fine piece of Venetian lace. It was worth $30 and the devil said, "It is yours, don't be fool enough to give it back," but he ran up and said, "Lady, please, you dropped your handkerchief," and then he turned and said, "Ha, ha, Mr. Devil, I beat you that time."

That's what I mean by being saved from sin. "But," you say, "that would be no temptation to me." No but you've been tempted in other directions and you went down.

Second. It saves you from hell in the next life.

A good many people try to comfort themselves by the thought that these awful descriptions of Hell in the Bible are meteaphorical and figurative

Saved From Sin.

I have a friend who was saved from a life of very great sin through Jesus Christ. One day walking down the street he noticed a lady drop her handkerchief. He was almost 20 feet behind when he picked it up he saw it was a fine piece of Venetian lace. It was worth $30 and the devil said, "It is yours, don't be fool enough to give it back," but he ran up and said, "Lady, please, you dropped your handkerchief," and then he turned and said, "Ha, ha, Mr. Devil, I beat you that time."

That's what I mean by being saved from sin. "But," you say, "that would be no temptation to me." No but you've been tempted in other directions and you went down.

Second. It saves you from hell in the next life.

A good many people try to comfort themselves by the thought that these awful descriptions of Hell in the Bible are meteaphorical and figurative

I don't know whether they are or not; I'm inclined to think that way myself; but if I know anything about a metaphor it can never, never, approximate the reality it seeks to describe and you had better stay out.

In the next place this salvation is great because of what it saves you to.

First. In this life—Oh, say, the peace and the joy and the satisfaction and the gladness of soul-Man, God pity you if you have never known what it is to have it.

What Was Lacking.

This is an old story and one much used but it illustrates so well what I have in mind that I shall use it once more. It is the story of Ole Bull and John Ericsson. They had been boys together in the homeland. John was an apprentice in a mechanic's shop and Ole was learning to play the violin. They grew up together and came both of them to this country. John Ericsson became the skilled and calloused mechanic, the man who invented the Monitor, that marvelous little turret boat that defeated the mighty Merrimac, while Ole Bull became the marvelous violinist, swaying the world with the power of his music. When they met for the first time in New York city Ole invited his old friend around to the music hall to hear him play. John thanked his old friend, but he did not go. The next day Ole asked him why he did not come and gave him another invitation. John thanked him again and said, "You see, Ole, I have no ear for music and I do not care for it at all." "Ah, but," said Ole, "you should hear me play, and really John if you do not come I will bring my violin to the shop and play for you there." John did not go and the next day Ole Bull passed by John Ericsson's shop. He had his violin with him and he broke it accidentally on purpose and went in and said "There is something wrong with my violin, John," and he got his old friend interested in the mechanism of the instrument. They talked about tones and semi-tones and harmony and fibers of wood and at last he said "I'll show you how it is." And he drew the bow across the strings and the waves of marvelous melody began to float through the building. The workmen laid down their tools and began to crowd about the player as if drawn by an irresistible spell and John Ericsson stood as if he were glued to the floor. He listened to every note that fell from the strings and when at last Ole Bull drew the bow across them for the last time and the music stopped, there standing before him with the tears streaming from his eyes was his old friend and he sprang forward as the last note died out and cried, "Play on, Ole! Play on. I never knew what was lacking in my life before."

It would be exactly so with every one of you who is seeking peace and satisfaction in the wealth and ambitions and pleasures of this world. You feel that you know is the need of your own life, but if you have never known the Christ you have never known what has been lacking in your lifeto give you the peace and satisfaction you will always seek in vain in any other direction.

Second: In the life to come. "Eye has not seen nor ear hath not heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man to conceive the things that God hath laid up for them that love Him." A little blind boy who had received his sight by a successful operation by a skilled physician ran screaming into his mother's arms for joy and then looked upon the beauties of nature and exclaimed: "Oh, mamma, why didn't you tell me it was so beautiful?" And the mother replied: "I tried to tell you, my child, but I couldn't do it." It could be that way if we should try to tell of heaven.

How shall we escape of we neglect so great salvation?

Now it's just the greatness of this salvation that makes two other words in the text rise up from the very page when you read them. One of them is the word "escape;" and it forces your mind in spite of you back to the thought of a moment ago that there is after all something to escape from. If there isn't, it's queer that a sentence like that should be found among the sayings of God. It's queer that Almighty God should tell us to flee from the wrath to come if there is no coming wrath from which too flee. The religion of Jesus Christ was never meant primarily to keep a man out of hell; it was meant to keep hell out of the man, and to put heaven into his soul rather than to put his soul into heaven; but there is another world just the same, and it's heaven or hell for every man who goes into it, and we're all going, for "It is appointed unto men once to die, and after that the judgment."

Verse Not Liked.

This is one of those verses that infidels and free thinkers and sinners don't like. They don't like the doctrine of retribution for sin and so they say they don't believe in it, as though that made any difference. What do you suppose God Almighty cares anyhow for what you believe. It's a pity He couldn't have had your around to confer with your stupendous intellect when He laid His plans for the universe and decided how to run it. Paul says there are some who do not believe. But what of it? He says, "Does this unbelief make the Gospel of no effect?"

A man said to me, "I guess it's all right if a man's sincere in what he believes." But that's noonsense. An Irishman caught a bumblebee but he dropped it. He said, "It's a purty bird, but it's got a hot tail." Your ignorance or your belief don't change a law of nature. You might believe in slavery—some people do—but the law don't apologize to you for saying that nowhere in all this free land or where Old Glory floats as the sovereign emblem shall the sunrise or set upon a slave. You might be the shrewdest lawyer in the land but if your opinion is lgeally wrong it cuts no ice with the court.

But you say, "Haven't some schol-

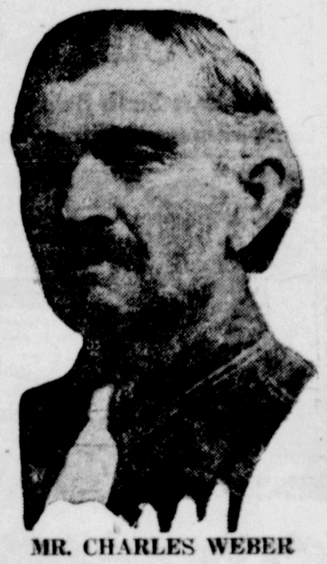
Well Known Fruit Grower Tells of His Happy Experience With the Health Discovery—Ka-di-ok



MR. CHARLES WEBER

Harken to the experience of Mr. Charles Weber, long time resident and well known fruit grower of Sta. F, South Columbus, Ohio, also a "granddad" of thirty, and father of thirteen children, three of whom fought in the late war. During his active life, Mr. Weber has advised many, but nothing has given him more pleasure than volunteering his recent experience with the famous herbal remedy—Ka-di-ok, in the hope that it may lead others on the road to health and happiness.

In conversation with a representative of the Ka-di-ok laboratories he said: "I suffered terrible pain from stomach trouble and indigestion, had dizzy spells, pains in my back and head, had no appetite and couldn't eat anything. "You can imagine the suffering these ailments caused.

Since taking Ka-di-ok, Mr. Weber feels entirely different. His troubles have disappeared and he says: "Now I can eat anything. In fact, I am always hungry." It's great to have an appetite. There never was a more truthful expression than this: "Good digestion waits on, appetite—and health on both."

Much of the present day ill health is due to faulty or improper work on the part of stomach, kidneys or liver. For such ailments, there is no better remedy than Ka-di-ok indorsed by thousands of grateful people in all walks of life. If you suffer from rheumatism, loss of appetite, nervousness, auto-intoxication, indigestion, general debility or any other ills traceable to the digestive or eliminative organs—get a bottle of Ka-di-ok at once.

Ka-di-ok can be obtained in East Liverpool at the Mathews Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 West 6th St.—adv arly ministers given it up?" Yes, a few of them, but what of that? That don't make any difference. Scholarly ministers have done things, too, but that don't make it right. They arrested a dirty rascal for bigamy the other day, and he was a minister, too. If I couldn't preach the word of God, I'd get out of the pulpit, but some of them would starve if they did, and so they stay and preach and heaven only knows what they do believe, and some of them don't know themselves. But you can be sure of one thing: they never gave up their belief in hell because of anything they found in the word of God. Some think it's an evidence of big brains to question the things in the revelation of God, but, say, if a man ever appears like a little two by four pin-handed ninnie its when he trots out his little four by five cheesee box intellect and match it up against the revealed wisdom of God, who made him. If opinions could be weighed I wouldn't give an ounce of the revealed word of God for a thousand tons of the opinions of men. Some of you've got an idea that you can go through the word of God and eliminate whatever don't coincide with the opinion of your own self-estimated stupendous and collossal intellect, but you'd better be careful how you blue pencil the word of God.

Will God Damn?

You come along and say, "God is too good to permit a man to be damned in the life to come." All right, then, let up apply same ethics to our own government.

They tell us there are 280,000 men and women incarcerated behind the bars of our American prisons. These are the vicious and vile, the men and women of uncontrolled passion, murderers, thieves, debauches, destroyers of virtue, brutal thugs, reprobates, and the vicious in nature of every kind. Let us now emulate what you conceive to be the character of Divine government and throw open our jails and penitentiaries and turn loose upon society this horde of moral vandals who defy the laws of God and man. But you cry, 'No, the sanctity of my home, the safety of my property and life are at stake.

Such anarch of government, you declare, we never could survive. And yet the very thing you decry as ruinous to your own government you foist upon God as the thing He must do to claim your reverence and allegience.

It's an awful thing that man's rebellion makes necessary a place of confinement in the other world. But it does in this world and why should it not there? I wish there were no Hell. And, oh, how God does wish it. "Turn ye, turn ye, for why will ye die," He cried. But if men choose to reject Jesus Christ and go on in sin, it is for the glory of God and for the good of the universe that man suffers for his sin when it is done, just as much as it is for the glory of the state and the good of society that the law-breaker be confined in jail and punished here.

Can't Preach Lie.

I don't want to preach a lie. I'd rather preach an unpleasant truth, and I have no desire to be any broader than Jesus was broad. And hearken, ye despisers of grace and ye triflers with mercy. Who is this preacher of perdition. It is He whose garments smelt of myrrh and aloes and cassia, who traveled all the way from his ivory palaces of the King of Calvary's Cross to save you from it. Whose voice is this that speaks in tones of a judge to tell you of the worm that dieth not and of the fire that is never qunched? It is the voice of Him who stood with tired feet and weary heart on Olive's slope and said as He wept: "Oh, Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou tha tkillest the prophets and stonest them that are

If she only knew that she could put on at least 5 pounds of good healthy flesh in 30 days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face and run-down looks.

She has tried Cod Liver Oil, but the ill-smelling, nasty tasting stuff upset her stomach and made her feel worse than before.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitamines that make flesh, creates appetite, builds up the power to resist disease and chases away nervousness.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it for doctors are prescribing and the people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets which Anderson, Larkin, Carnahan and Mathew's Medicine Store and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

It's a wonderful upbuilding medicine for children, especially after sickness, and sixty tablets only cost 60 cents.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days, your druggist will gladly return the purchase price.

"Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablet."

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Judith of Blue Lake Ranch

By JACKSON GREGORY.

(CHAPTER FIFTEEN, Continued.)

There was no time to hesitate. If she stood here, Quinnion would in a moment wrap his arms about her; if she dropped down, she would be in the frenzied clutch of Mad Ruth.

A second she crouched, peering down into the gloom below her, seeking to make out the form of the mad woman. Then she did not merely drop, but jumped, landing fair upon the waiting figure, striking with her boots on Mad Ruth's shoulders. A scream of rage from Ruth, a little, strangling cry from Judith, and the two fell together. Ruth clutched as she went down and a hand closed over the girl's ankle. Jurith rolled, struck again with the free boot, twisted sharply and felt the grip torn loose from her ankle. She was free.

She jumped up and ran and knew that Ruth was running just behind her, screaming terribly. Judith fell, and her heart grew sick within her. But again she was up just as Ruth's hand clutched at her skirt, clutched and was torn away at Judith ran on. Quinnion cursed from above as she had not yet heard him curse. Ruth reviled both her and Quinnion for having let her go.

Judith was running swiftly and felt that she could get the better of the heavier, older woman in a race of this sort. She stumbled and fell, and fear again gripped her; it seemed so long before she could rise and clamber over a fallen log and race on. But the darkness which tricked her protected her at the same time, playing no favorites now. Ruth, too, had fallen; Ruth, too, was frenzied at the brief delay.

Stumbling, falling, rising, staggering back from a tree into which she had run full tilt, bruised and torn, the girl ran on. At every free step hope shot upward in her heart; at every fall she grew sick with dread.

The canyon broadened rapidly, the ground underfoot grew less broken and littered with boulders and logs. Through tangles of brush she went blindly, throwing herself forward, falling, rising, falling, rising again. It was a nightmare of a race, with Ruth always just there, almost at her heels. She turned as far away from the stream as she could, keeping under the cliffs where there was less brush; where the way was more open, where the shadows were thickest.

She was outdistancing Mad Ruth. Ruth's weird voice came from a greater distance; the woman was ten, maybe twenty, feet behind her.

The moon at last rose pale gold above the eastern ridge. And now Judith could thank God for it. For the canyon had widened more and more, the banks of the river were studded with big trees, there were wide open spaces between them through which she shot like a frightened deer, turning this way and that, darting about a clump of little firs, plunging into the shadows under great sky-seeking cedars, running as she had never run before and as she knew Mad Ruth could not run.

Free! She was free. The triumph of it danced in her blood. On she ran and now Quinnion's voice and Ruth's were confused with the roar of the river. On she ran and on and on, and but faintly there came to her the sound of breaking brush somewhere behind her. Never had her blood sung within her as it sang now; never had the dim, moonlit solitudes of the mountains opened their sheltering arms to one more grateful to slip into them, like a wounded child into the soothing embrace of its mother.

Now again she turned so that her flying steps brought her close to the water's edge. Louder and louder grew its shouting voice in her ears, little by little drowning out the sounds of Ruth and Quinnion behind her.

Now, in all the glorious night, there was no sound to reach her but the sound of running water and her own beating feet. She was free.

But still she ran, summoning all of the reserve of strength and will-power which was hers to command. The sky was brightening to the climbing moon. She must round many a sweeping curve of the river, pass under many a sheltering, shadowing tree before she dared slow her steps.

When she felt that she was overtaxing herself, she dropped from the wild pace she had set herself into a little jogged trot. When her whole body cried out at the effort demanded of it, she slowed down to a brisk walk. She was shot through with pain, her throat ached, she was growing dizzy. But on she went stubbornly. It was a full hour after the last sound of pursuit had died out after her that she flung herself down at the water's edge to drink and bathe her arms and face in the cold stream. And, even then, she chose a spot where the shadow of a great pine lay like ink over the bank.

The moon was high in the sky, the world bright with it, when Judith left the valley into which the canyon had widened and made her way slowly upward along a timbered ridge to the west. Of Quinnion and Mad Ruth she now had no fear. Their chance of coming upon her was less than negligible. She could creep into a clump of thick-standing young trees and, even if they should come, could watch them go past. But as they had dropped out of her world, another matter had entered it. The mountains had befriended her; they had opened their arms to her and that was all that she had asked of them. They had mothered her, drawing her into hiding against their bosom. But it was a barren, barren breast. And already she was hungry, daring to eat but sparingly of her handful of bread and meat.

From this ridge, finding an open crest, she stood looking out over the world. Mile after mile of mountain and canyon and cliff fell away on every side. She sought eagerly for a landmark; to see yonder in the distance Old Baldy or Copper mountain or Three Fools' peak, any one of the mountains or ridges know to her. And in the end she could only shake her head and sigh wearily and slip down where she was to fall asleep, thanking God that she was free, asking God to lead her aright in the morning.

The stars watched over her, a pale, wornout girl sleeping alone in the heart of the wilderness; the night breezes sang through the century-old treetops; and Judith, having striven to the uttermost, slept in heavy dreamlessness.

Now again she turned so that her flying steps brought her close to the water's edge. Louder and louder grew its shouting voice in her ears, little by little drowning out the sounds of Ruth and Quinnion behind her.

Now, in all the glorious night, there was no sound to reach her but the sound of running water and her own beating feet. She was free.

But still she ran, summoning all of the reserve of strength and will-power which was hers to command. The sky was brightening to the climbing moon. She must round many a sweeping curve of the river, pass under many a sheltering, shadowing tree before she dared slow her steps.

When she felt that she was overtaxing herself, she dropped from the wild pace she had set herself into a little jogged trot. When her whole body cried out at the effort demanded of it, she slowed down to a brisk walk. She was shot through with pain, her throat ached, she was growing dizzy. But on she went stubbornly. It was a full hour after the last sound of pursuit had died out after her that she flung herself down at the water's edge to drink and bathe her arms and face in the cold stream. And, even then, she chose a spot where the shadow of a great pine lay like ink over the bank.

The moon was high in the sky, the world bright with it, when Judith left the valley into which the canyon had widened and made her way slowly upward along a timbered ridge to the west. Of Quinnion and Mad Ruth she now had no fear. Their chance of coming upon her was less than negligible. She could creep into a clump of thick-standing young trees and, even if they should come, could watch them go past. But as they had dropped out of her world, another matter had entered it. The mountains had befriended her; they had opened their arms to her and that was all that she had asked of them. They had mothered her, drawing her into hiding against their bosom. But it was a barren, barren breast. And already she was hungry, daring to eat but sparingly of her handful of bread and meat.

From this ridge, finding an open crest, she stood looking out over the world. Mile after mile of mountain and canyon and cliff fell away on every side. She sought eagerly for a landmark; to see yonder in the distance Old Baldy or Copper mountain or Three Fools' peak, any one of the mountains or ridges know to her. And in the end she could only shake her head and sigh wearily and slip down where she was to fall asleep, thanking God that she was free, asking God to lead her aright in the morning.

The stars watched over her, a pale, wornout girl sleeping alone in the heart of the wilderness; the night breezes sang through the century-old treetops; and Judith, having striven to the uttermost, slept in heavy dreamlessness.

COUNCIL HOLDS BUSY SESSION

Council met in regular session Wednesday evening with all members present.

Communication was read from the Association of Borough asking donation to help body to fight proposed gas rate boost. The request was denied. The engineer reported that it would cost approximately $230,000 to complete sewer system in borough. No action was taken on the matter. Solicitor was instructed to prepare an ordinance covering bond issue to pay for paving west end of Midland avenue.

Resolution was passed to refuse permits for gasoline stations on streets. Under the new ruling they must be on private property. Those now on streets can be removed by an order of council, but owners must be given 30 days' notice.

MRS. LEO DOYLE CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. Leo Doyle entertained the members of the Romona club at a "500" party at her home on Beaver avenue Wednesday evening. Mrs. Thomas King won first prize, Mrs. Thomas O'Donnell drew second prize and Mrs. Joseph Doyle guest prize. Decorations were carried out in autumn leaves and plants. A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess late in the evening.

Says -- Now Stiff Joints Must Go!

New Discovery Limbers 'Em Up and Even the Creaking Ceases.

"Yes; it's true—the world progresses.

All you have to do nowadays to limber up that stiff, rusty knee joint is to squeeze a half inch of miracle working substance from a tube.

Then rub it on the offending part for about a quarter of a minute or until it soaks through the skin and disappears on its errand of mercy.

Then read the evening newspapers and go to bed.

The chances are that your misbehaving knee joint will lose its "creak" while you are dreaming about the high fences you used to leap when you were a youngster.

"And in the morning," says one who has tried the new discovery, "you'll feel so happy that you'll want to jump into your sportiest clothes and walk briskly down the street just to show the neighbors that you are not as old as they think you are."

Joint-Ease they call this wonder working substance, for the reason that when ordinary remedies fail to limber up the stiff, inflamed rheumatic joint, or reduce the swelling, Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's a good name for a good, clean, penetrating prescription that in just a few months has proven to a multitude of people that lame, swollen, distorted joints can speedily have the kinks taken out of them and work as smoothly as ever.

But Joint-Ease is for bothersome joints, whether in knee, ankle, hip, shoulder, spine or finger, and for that purpose its sale is immense.

Jesse D. Holloway has a big supply of it and druggists everywhere report a big demand.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick.

Every rheumatic sufferer ought to send today for free book, "The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism" (just out). Address H. P. Clearwater, box 800, Hallowell, Maine.

The Trail of Tears

AS sweet and clean as the breath off her native hills was the "Little Boss,"—and as innocent—until Eugene Martin came into her life.

Poor, trusting, motherless little girl! Pitifully ignorant of life, she was the last to suspect her prince of treachery.

But when big "Flint" Corey discovered their secret—

As she looks back on that long year of humiliation, suffering and bitter shame she shudders to think how narrowly she escaped from a lifetime of degradation and woe.

Never was the folly, the crime of ignorance driven home with more telling blows than in this powerful, heart-gripping narrative. Every growing girl — every father and mother with a daughter — should read it. It is entitled "The Rattlesnake's Bite," and appears in True Story Magazine for December. Yet it is but one of the many intensely interesting, helpful, inspiring features in this great issue.

Don't miss it!

Flint took one step and had Eugene Martin by the throat. "You miserable, sneaking coward," he ground out, "if you try to run away I'll break every bone in your body." —From "The Rattlesnake's Bite."

Thousands point to Bernarr Macfadden, founder of True Story, with joy and thanksgiving that he has dared to battle for Truth — cost what it may.

Highs Resume Grid Hostilities With East Palestine Saturday

Local School Holds Edge In Victories, Past Records Show

Ceramic City Football Teams Maintain Three to One Ratio Over North Countians in Matter of Winning Games.

On only one occasion during four games from 1915 to 1920 has the East Palestine scholastic eleven proved sufficiently able to trim East Liverpool high school gridders, and from all indications on the surface, Saturday afternoon's tilt between the two teams at Patterson Field will go the way the majority of their contests in the past four years have gone—to an East Liverpool victory.

East Liverpool has outplayed and outscored the East Palestine warriors since 1915, the Ceramic City schools, only reversal in that period registered in 1919, when teh north countians came through with a 14 to 12 conquest, East Liverpool's inability to kick for the extra points after their two touchdowns accounting for their failure to tie the count.

In the four games since 1915 neither team has scored more than two touchdowns. If East Liverpool's forward passing strength is at the peak of the form to which it has been developed by Coach O. V. Boone, Saturday should see a new scoring record established by the Potters.

In 1919 the locals triumphed by the score of 12 to 0. The following year they won again, this time at East Palestine, 12 to 9. In 1919 the East Palestine eleven turned in a 14 to 12 victory, and the last contest between the two schools, in 1920, gave East Liverpool a 14 to 0 victory. During the four years, the local school scored 50 points to East Palestine's 23.

However, it is quite possible that Coach Boone will be handicapped in his efforts to some extent by the absence of several players of ability, including English and Bennett, both of whom, however, will probably be avaiable for the clash with Leetonia on the following Saturday. English will likely be eligible for duty next week. Bennett has been suffering from injuries to his ankle and may be permitted to perform in only part of the East Palestine game.

SPECIAL CAR FOR GRIDDERS

Crowd of Fans Also Will See Bellaire Contest.

Manager George Cochran of the Greys Friday announced a special car has been chartered to convey the team and fans to Bellaire on Sunday for the clash with the Bellaire semi-pros. The car is scheduled to leave the Broadway terminal Sunday morning at 9 o'clock.

The Bellaire outfit has played such elevens as the Bradley Eagles, Ambridge Elks, Wellsburgh Merchants, Valley Strips, and others of similar ranking.

The Armistice Day game with Sebring here, is also giving the Greys plenty of opportunity for practice work. Although already one of the strongest combinations that he represented the city on the gridiron for years, the Sebring club is being further bolstered by the addition of stars, including Moore, formerly of the Goat Hills, of Alliance, and others. They have also hired Cook, guard of the Temple ex-Highs of Bellaire, for this particular game.

The Greys will hold their final practice session Friday evening prior to the games with Bellaire and Sebring.

Ohioans Help Make Brown Team Formidable

CARROLL AND CASE ON HOME GROUNDS

CLEVELAND, Nov. 7. — Football fans here tomorrow will have their choice between two strong collegiate games. Case, beaten only once this season, meets Wooster at Case field. Coach Boles' eleven also has met but one defeat, and the game should be hotly contested. A large crowd from the Wayne county capital were expected here to root for the Presbyterians. In the other contest, John Carroll, although not a member of the Ohio conference, reported to have one of the strongest elevens in the state, will meet the university of Detroit at Dunn field.

Bernstein Favorite.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Jack Bernstein of Yonkers, N. Y., ruled a six to five favorite over Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., for their 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight, the so-called "wise money" figuring Bernstein to be too strong for the Rockford flash. Bernstein has staged a remarkable comeback during recent months after losing his 130-pound title to Johnny Dundee on an unsatisfactory decision.

The principals are legitimate lightweights and leading contenders for Benny Leonard's title. This will be their third meeting, the first ending in a draw and the second in a decision for Mandell.

Canadian investors hold 69 per cent of the outstanding bond issues of their country.

Illinois Eleven Is Open For Game With Big Three Opponent

Zuppke's Eleven, With Grange, Grid's Best Drawing Card, in Receptive Mood for Proposal of This Kind.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—It may be of interest to the big three, self-constituted aristocracy of eastern football, that the University of Illinois might be obtained by them as a 1025 attraction at the bowl, Soldiers' field or Palmer stadium. The writer has been given to understand that the Illini, with Red Grange, constituting the greatest drawing card in the country with the possible exception of Notre Dame, is in a receptive mood for any and all proposals of this kind.

One factor only stands in the way, if you except the fact that no member of the Big Three might be willing to overload its schedule by taking on an opponent of Illini calibre. The lone consideration is that the Illini would insist that a home-and-home series be played, such as Princeton did with Chicago in 1921 and 1922 Just whether they could persuade another Big Three team to travel west is a question.

It may not be generally known but Illinois competed with Chicago for the Princeton series and had plenty of support from Princeton graduates. The admitting factor in the Tigers' decision to play Chicago was that the locale of the second game would give Princeton graduates in the west a better chance to see the game. The Illinois stadium is just a bit off the beaten track, although only three hours from Chicago by rail.

Based on the theory that what it did before it might do again, it is presumed that Princeton might rise to the proposition, particularly since it has broken with Notre Dame and possibly needs a big time opponent. The Illini are all of that. Harvard also foreswore tradition when it sallied forth to the tournament of Roses at Pasadena, California, to play a post season game with Oregon several years ago. It is not within the writer's memory that Yale ever has sent a team west.

That it might be well worth Yale's while to do so now is to state a platitude. A series of games between Yale and Illinois would stimulate the business of football the country over and fairly inundate two of the greatest stadiums in the country.

Illinois was joint holder of the conference title with Michigan in 1923 and is well on its way to absolute supremacy this season. As a team it runs second to none in its box office possibilities. Taken individually the Illinois eleven can muster the greatest single attraction playing modern football, Harold "Red" Grange, who in 1924 will be making his final appearance on Collegiate gridirons. Illinois' Alliance with a member of the big three would give the East its last chance to see the man who has turned Middlewestern football upside down.

That Illinois, frankly, is looking about for further fields to conquer seems to be a generally accepted fact in the West. It took on Michigan this fall, after a lapse of years and not only won away off by itself, but had the satisfaction of seeing Grange score four touchdowns in the first twelve minutes of play.

With Michigan accounted for, the Illinois are said now to be looking toward the East in general and the Big Three in particular, as the next victim for Grange. They want to make the most of their flood tide of football prosperity.

START EARLY TO AVOID DARKNESS

CINCINNATI, Nov. 7—The Kenyon-St. Xavier game tomorrow is to be started early to avoid danger of darkness, the kick-off being scheduled for two o'clock. The Catholics have been going fairly well, but expect to have to use their best plays and players to hold the Episcopalian eleven from Gambier, whose lopsided victory over Mount Union last week was one of the surprises of the Ohio conference.

KEARNS AWAITING MEXICAN OFFER

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—Jack Kearns said early today that he had yet to receive an offer from Fred Winsor for Jack Dempsey to meet Tony Fuente, the Mexican heavyweight, in a championship bout at Culver City, near Los Angeles, on July 4, 1925. The offer is said to have been wired Kearns following the announcement that California had legalized 10 round bouts to a decision and 12 round bouts without a decision.

Highs Resume Grid Hostilities With East Palestine Saturday

Local School Holds Edge In Victories, Past Records Show

Ceramic City Football Teams Maintain Three to One Ratio Over North Countians in Matter of Winning Games.

On only one occasion during four games from 1915 to 1920 has the East Palestine scholastic eleven proved sufficiently able to trim East Liverpool high school gridders, and from all indications on the surface, Saturday afternoon's tilt between the two teams at Patterson Field will go the way the majority of their contests in the past four years have gone—to an East Liverpool victory.

East Liverpool has outplayed and outscored the East Palestine warriors since 1915, the Ceramic City schools, only reversal in that period registered in 1919, when teh north countians came through with a 14 to 12 conquest, East Liverpool's inability to kick for the extra points after their two touchdowns accounting for their failure to tie the count.

In the four games since 1915 neither team has scored more than two touchdowns. If East Liverpool's forward passing strength is at the peak of the form to which it has been developed by Coach O. V. Boone, Saturday should see a new scoring record established by the Potters.

In 1919 the locals triumphed by the score of 12 to 0. The following year they won again, this time at East Palestine, 12 to 9. In 1919 the East Palestine eleven turned in a 14 to 12 victory, and the last contest between the two schools, in 1920, gave East Liverpool a 14 to 0 victory. During the four years, the local school scored 50 points to East Palestine's 23.

However, it is quite possible that Coach Boone will be handicapped in his efforts to some extent by the absence of several players of ability, including English and Bennett, both of whom, however, will probably be available for the clash with Leetonia on the following Saturday. English will likely be eligible for duty next week. Bennett has been suffering from injuries to his ankle and may be permitted to perform in only part of the East Palestine game.

SPECIAL CAR FOR GRIDDERS

Crowd of Fans Also Will See Bellaire Contest.

Manager George Cochran of the Greys Friday announced a special car has been chartered to convey the team and fans to Bellaire on Sunday for the clash with the Bellaire semi-pros. The car is scheduled to leave the Broadway terminal Sunday morning at 9 o'clock.

The Bellaire outfit has played such elevens as the Bradley Eagles, Ambridge Elks, Wellsburgh Merchants, Valley Strips, and others of similar ranking.

The Armistice Day game with Sebring here, is also giving the Greys plenty of opportunity for practice work. Although already one of the strongest combinations that he represented the city on the gridiron for years, the Sebring club is being further bolstered by the addition of stars, including Moore, formerly of the Goat Hills, of Alliance, and others. They have also hired Cook, guard of the Temple ex-Highs of Bellaire, for this particular game.

The Greys will hold their final practice session Friday evening prior to the games with Bellaire and Sebring.

Dr. Biederwolf

sent unto you, how oft would I have gathered thy children together as a hen doth gather her chickens beneat hher wing, and ye would not." Whose voice is it that the impenitent one shall one day hear, saying: "Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire prepared—not for you, Oh, no, not for you, but prepared for the devil and his angels." It is the voice of Him who stands today with the bleeding heart and pierced hands and cries to every wandering, sin sick soul, "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest."

How shall we escape if we neglect?

Neglect! Neglect! Neglect! Thou Prime Minister of the bottomless pit! Thou has damned every soul in the infernal regions tonight. If it had not been for thee, the fires of hell would never need to have been kindled. If it had not been for thee the fanged hounds of conscience would never have been unleashed upon the barren wilds of that dread underworld to sting and burn the soul of those eternally condemned. If it had not been for thee no wail of the lost would ever have been echoed along the desolate shores of that lurid lake whose burnings never cease, where demons dance and mock, where no light ever enters and no star of hope ever shines. "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation."

Devil's Own Work.

When all hell had assembled Satan arose and with revenge deep-stamped upon his brow called for advice how best to damn the souls of earth. One of the demons arose with fiendish laugh and said: "I'll go and do the work: I'll go and tell them not to make fools of themselves; that there is no God, no heaven, no hell, and that the Bible is all a fable and is not divinely apnointed of God." And all hell rang with acclamation. But Satan, wisest of them all, said, 'No, few people would believe such a thing like that; the fool hath said in his heart, there is no God." Then up rose another imp and said: "Let me go; I'll tell them there is a God and a heaven but there is no hell; that Jesus Christ was the best man that ever lived, but only a man and not divine; that the Bible has much truth in it, but like other books, is in error on certain things and I will tell them that people can eat, drink and be merry and when they die God in His mercy will same them all anyhow," and all the devils cheered, but from somewhere came the wailing eacho of a Unitarian, crying: "Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ," followed by the said tones of the Universalist, srying "There is no other name under heaven whereby men must be saved;" and Satan, the arch fiend, said to the imp: "No, you must not go, you might find a few who would try to believe in what you say, but most men will never believe in a thing like that. Sit down!" And then a third arose, more fiendish than the others, and said: "Let me go and I'll do the work. I'll tell them the Bible is true, that there is a God, a heaven, a heil, and a Saviour from it, and that upon their disposition of Him on earth will depend His disposition of them in the coming world." Hold! Hold!" cried Satan and all the devils. "Will you preach the very thing we hate and try to overthrow?" "But," said the fiend, "I have not finished; I will quietly say to each one as he thinks upon the subject, "There is plenty of time, put it off; wait until tomorrow," and the chorus of demons broke out in thundering hurrahs, while Satan shouted, "Go! Go! Go," and that emissary of the evil world has been busy from that day to this and he has come into this place of decision tonight whispering to this one of the morning of life, and to this one bowed with years, "Put it off—put it off; there's time enough yet; tomorrow will be even as today;" while the World of God, the Spirit of God, the providence of God, the minister of God, and the people of God all unite in saying, "Uow is the day of salvation."

Better neglect anything else than this — your lodge, your life insurance, you business, your health — you can better afford to neglect everything else than to neglect the salvation of your soul. I know men who are so troubled they cannot sleep at night; so troubled they can not attend to business in the day time. I have seen men in this meeting turn pale and take hold of the seat in front of them; have seen the tears go down their cheeks and yet they will not yield. "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?"

Has your insurance kept pace with new purchases?

From time to time you have made improvements on your house. You have also bought new things into your home. Does your insurance cover ALL these things? If fire came tonight would you be paid enough to replace with goods of like kind and character?

America's Great Legion of Mercy Has Room in Its Ranks for All

THROUGHOUT the United States on the memorable anniversary of the armistice which silenced the guns of world strife the American Red Cross will call the people to join it in the engagements of peace. The annual enrollment, which opens on Armistice Day, November 11, and ends on Thanksgiving Day, November 27, will be in progress throughout the 3,089 counties in the United States, upon the high seas and in the insular possessions.

More than 3,000 Red Cross Chapters, representing a total membership of more than 3,300,000, will engage in the membership campaign. The Chapter is the community unit of the national organization which carries out locally the extensive program, services and policies of the American Red Cross. The industry of these thousands of busy units is a voluntary and steady outpouring of well-doing and practical sympathy softening human suffering and distress wherever it arises.

Strength in individual membership means effectual preparedness of the Red Cross to cope with any call, anywhere, at any time. "It is this annual enlistment of millions of Americans under the banner of the American Red Cross which makes possible the continued work of this great and democratic legion of mercy," says Judge John Barton Payne, head of the national organization.

"Membership in the Red Cross," declares Judge Payne, "is a privilege within the reach of everyone. The need for service grows more insistent each year. To keep pace with the demands which come from every section of our country we must have the people's loyal support. Our capacity for service in the year to come will be limited only by the extent to which we receive support for our work in the coming Roll Call."

Great Britain Fast Populating Canada; Many New Settlers

OTTAWA, Ont.—Over-population of Great Britain is helping to settle vast tracts of Canada. Nearly 50 per cent of the Dominion's immigration in the last five months came from the British Isles, according to a report issued by the Department of Immigration and Organization.

Total new settlers entering Canada in the five months ending September 1 numbered 76,719. Immigration during August totaled 12,696, of which 5,706 were from Great Britain, 1,784 from the United States and 5,206 from Continental Europe.

No entry has been made a pronounced favorite.

Fight in Dayton.

DAYTON, Nov. 7.—Irish Billy McCann of Cleveland and Tommy Herman of this city have been matched by the McCabe Athletic club for a 12-round decision bout in this city for Nov. 11. McCann boasts of never having been off his feet in more than 100 battles. Herman has knocked out 18 of his last 23 opponents. The bout has attracted more attention than any scrap booked here for the last three years.

Tate To Aid Firpo

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. — Bill Tate, Negro heavyweight who was in Luis Firpo's corner on the night of the Wills-Firpo fight, has been re-engaged as the wild bull's sparring partner, it was announced today. Firpo is getting ready for a comeback on Wednesday next against Charley Weinert, whom he knocked out in two rounds last year.

sent unto you, how oft would I have gathered thy children together as a hen doth gather her chickens beneat hher wing, and ye would not." Whose voice is it that the impenitent one shall one day hear, saying: "Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire prepared—not for you, Oh, no, not for you, but prepared for the devil and his angels." It is the voice of Him who stands today with the bleeding heart and pierced hands and cries to every wandering, sin sick soul, "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest."

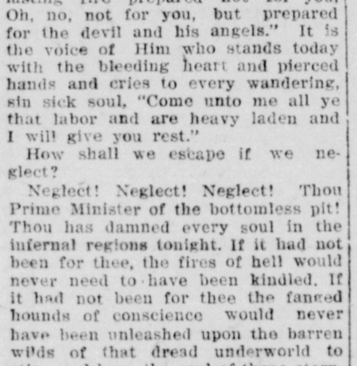
How shall we escape if we neglect?

Neglect! Neglect! Neglect! Thou Prime Minister of the bottomless pit! Thou has damned every soul in the infernal regions tonight. If it had not been for thee, the fires of hell would never need to have been kindled. If it had not been for thee the fanged hounds of conscience would never have been unleashed upon the barren wilds of that dread underworld to sting and burn the soul of those eternally condemned. If it had not been for thee no wail of the lost would ever have been echoed along the desolate shores of that lurid lake whose burnings never cease, where demons dance and mock, where no light ever enters and no star of hope ever shines. "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation."

Devil's Own Work.

When all hell had assembled Satan arose and with revenge deep-stamped upon his brow called for advice how best to damn the souls of earth. One of the demons arose with fiendish laugh and said: "I'll go and do the work: I'll go and tell them not to make fools of themselves; that there is no God, no heaven, no hell, and that the Bible is all a fable and is not divinely apointed of God." And all hell rang with acclamation. But Satan, wisest of them all, said, 'No, few people would believe such a thing like that; the fool hath said in his heart, there is no God." Then up rose another imp and said: "Let me go; I'll tell them there is a God and a heaven but there is no hell; that Jesus Christ was the best man that ever lived, but only a man and not divine; that the Bible has much truth in it, but like other books, is in error on certain things and I will tell them that people can eat, drink and be merry and when they die God in His mercy will same them all anyhow," and all the devils cheered, but from somewhere came the wailing eacho of a Unitarian, crying: "Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ," followed by the said tones of the Universalist, srying "There is no other name under heaven whereby men must be saved;" and Satan, the arch fiend, said to the imp: "No, you must not go, you might find a few who would try to believe in what you say, but most men will never believe in a thing like that. Sit down!" And then a third arose, more fiendish than the others, and said: "Let me go and I'll do the work. I'll tell them the Bible is true, that there is a God, a heaven, a hell, and a Saviour from it, and that upon their disposition of Him on earth will depend His disposition of them in the coming world." Hold! Hold!" cried Satan and all the devils. "Will you preach the very thing we hate and try to overthrow?" "But," said the fiend, "I have not finished; I will quietly say to each one as he thinks upon the subject, "There is plenty of time, put it off; wait until tomorrow," and the chorus of demons broke out in thundering hurrahs, while Satan shouted, "Go! Go! Go." and that emissary of the evil world has been busy from that day to this and he has come into this place of decision tonight whispering to this one of the morning of life, and to this one bowed with years, "Put it off—put it off; there's time enough yet; tomorrow will be even as today;" while the World of God, the Spirit of God, the providence of God, the minister of God, and the people of God all unite in saying, "Now is the day of salvation."

Better neglect anything else than this — your lodge, your life insurance, you business, your health — you can better afford to neglect everything else than to neglect the salvation of your soul. I know men who are so troubled they cannot sleep at night; so troubled they can not attend to business in the day time. I have seen men in this meeting turn pale and take hold of the seat in front of them; have seen the tears go down their checks and yet they will not yield. "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?"



Has your insurance kept pace with new purchases?

From time to time you have made improvements on your house. You have also bought new things into your home. Does your insurance cover ALL these things? If fire came tonight would you be paid enough to replace with goods of like kind and character?

This agency of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company will help you estimate values and will so plan your fire insurance that, if loss should come, it would be made good.

America's Great Legion of Mercy Has Room in Its Ranks for All

THROUGHOUT the United States on the memorable anniversary of the armistice which silenced the guns of world strife the American Red Cross will call the people to join it in the engagements of peace. The annual enrollment, which opens on Armistice Day, November 11, and ends on Thanksgiving Day, November 27, will be in progress throughout the 3,089 counties in the United States, upon the high seas and in the insular possessions.

More than 3,000 Red Cross Chapters, representing a total membership of more than 3,300,000, will engage in the membership campaign. The Chapter is the community unit of the national organization which carries out locally the extensive program, services and policies of the American Red Cross. The industry of these thousands of busy units is a voluntary and steady outpouring of well-doing and practical sympathy softening human suffering and distress wherever it arises.

Strength in individual membership means effectual preparedness of the Red Cross to cope with any call, anywhere, at any time. "It is this annual enlistment of millions of Americans under the banner of the American Red Cross which makes possible the continued work of this great and democratic legion of mercy," says Judge John Barton Payne, head of the national organization.

"Membership in the Red Cross," declares Judge Payne, "is a privilege within the reach of everyone. The need for service grows more insistent each year. To keep pace with the demands which come from every section of our country we must have the people's loyal support. Our capacity for service in the year to come will be limited only by the extent to which we receive support for our work in the coming Roll Call."

TIMELY VIEWS & WORLD TOPICS

"Electric Power Is Key To Prosperity Labor Figures Prove," Say Westinghouse Head.

"Human intelligence today knows of no better means for increasing the prosperity of the American nation and the American people than a continuation of electrical development along our present lines," according to Brigadier General Guy E. Tripp, chairman of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

GEN. GUY E. TRIPP

"When something better does appear," he said, "it will be our duty to work for it, even at personal cost to ourselves, but in the meantime we appear to be on the right track."

Compares Man-Power Figures.

General Tripp based his opinion as to the relation of prosperity and electrical development on a study of wages and power per workman throughout the world. Thus, the wages of the average American workman is about two and a quarter times the wages of the average British workman, but the American has over twice the mechanical power at his disposal. This same proportion of wages to power per capita holds throughout the world.

Present plans of electrical industry, said General Tripp, call for the development of large superpower systems which will supply the maximum amount of electric power to the largest number of people at the lowest cost. Hence it seems probable that maximum prosperity will result from this development.

These views are corroborated, General Tripp pointed out, by the findings of a British committee of engineers and men in public life under the chairmanship of Lloyd George, which has been studying means for solving some of Great Britain's economic problems and especially her serious unemployment situation. "This committee recommends," said General Tripp, "that Great Britain begin at once the development of a nation-wide electrical system, based on plans similar to those we are following in the United States, and states as its confident belief that such a development will bring about revolutionary improvements in the affairs of both the British nation and the British people as individuals."

Report Is Surprise.

"There is a real surprise in the Lloyd George report," continued the general, "and tha tis its recommendations as regards government ownership of the proposed national electric system. Great Britain has always been regarded in this country as an enthusiastic proponent of government ownership of the electrical utilities. Sixty-five per cent of her total installed capacity of public service electric generators and 66 per cent of her electric railway mileage are municipally owned.

"One would expect the Lloyd George committee to take for granted government ownership and operation of the great electrical system it has recommended; but, on the contrary, it condemns government operation in the strongest language it can use with propriety."

"The arguments for government ownership," continued General Tripp, "can be easily demolished from a logical standpoint, but logic is not what supports the case for public ownership; it is really founded upon apprehension — a fear that such a great public national service in the hands of private capital would acquire so great a power that it cannot be prevented from exploiting the public by means and ways impossible to control."

The way to allay this apprehension and to prevent possibilities of public exploitation is to further develop our system of regulating public service corporations, which has so far proved sound and which can be extended to prevent any objectionable practices that may still continue or be devised in the future. In this way, both rapid and efficient electrical development and the protection of the public are assured.

Chest Drive Planned.

ELYRIA.—The Community Chest drive to be held November 12 to 21 inclusive, will conclude the Red Cross and anti-tuberculosis drives here. The total quota will be $91,500. The Lorain tornado contributions this year cut down the monthly payments pledged to the local chest fund.

Musician Out of Tune

"Gas pressure in my stomach sometimes distressed me so that I could not think. I played out of tune and twice lost my position. No medicine helped me and I became disheartened. Another musician advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I am now enjoying the best of health." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and druggists everywhere.

Wellsville Lady Highly Enthused

In a highly nervous condition and suffering greatly from dizzy spells and indigestion, she discovers prompt relief in "VENDOL."

"It's simply wonderful," enthusiastically replied Mrs. Lucie Williams, R. D. No. 2, Wellsville, O., when asked by the Vendol Specialist at Mathews' Medicine Store how she liked Vendol the new plant and herb discovery which is doing so much good in this section.

Mrs. Lucie Williams.

"I was in a highly nervous condition which was probably brought on by my rundown condition. Sometimes my liver went back on me and everything would seem dark and I'd get so dizzy and giddy I've had to hold on to something to keep from falling. No matter how careful I was in eating I'd get indigestion and my food would sour and sometimes even smelling food nauseated me.

"But since taking Vendol the change has surprised me. I can eat anything, even corned beef and cabbage, without any stomach distress. The dizziness has disappeared, my nerves are quieted making it possible for me to fall right to sleep when I go to bed, and I feel better and stronger in every way."

Thousands of folks in Ohio know how effective Vendol is in cases like the above and are recommending it to their friends for all stomach, liver and nervous disorders. In most cases great benefits are seen during the first week's treatment.

The Vendol specialist at Mathew's Medicine Store says: "No one should confuse Vendol with any other medicine they have taken for this new tonic discovery will prove different. I want everyone to call on me and hear the merits of this great remedy.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Life and Death.

So he died for his faith. That is fine—
More than most of us do.
But stay, can you add to that line
That he lived for it, too?

In death he bore witness at last
As a martyr to truth.
Did his life do the same in the past
From the days of his youth?

It is easy to die. Men have died
For a wish or a whim—
From a bravado or passion or pride,
Was it harder for him?

But to live! every day to live out
All the truth that he dreamt,
While his friends met his conduct with doubt,
And the world with contempt—

Was it thus that he plodded ahead,
Never turning aside?
Then we'll talk of the life that he led,
Never mind how he died.

—Ernest Crosby.
